NEW YORK, April 10.—E. Ellery Anderson, one of the Union Pacific receivers, denies there has been any resignation. He said: "The receivers of the Union Pacific system, however, have been somewhat shaken up over the recent decision of Judge Caldwell and it has been a question in our minds whether or not our relations to the the company and its army of employees have not been seriously, if not irreparably impaired by that decision, which was imprudent to say the very least of it, and to my mind, most unfortunate, so far as we are concerned. "The position is a very grave one and is especially so when the vastness of the interests we represent is considered. That decision practically takes us to task. I have only seen Mr. Coudert once since the rendering of Judge Caldwell's decision and Mr. Doane is in California; hence there has been no conference in regard to the matter."

Tariff Speech Wakes Applause-Senator Lodge Speaks on

WASHINGTON, April 10.-The Demo cratic caucus, after a session of two hours and a half, this evening adopted the following resolutions without a dissenting vote:

Resolved, that it is the sense of this caucus that the prohibitory tax of 10 per cent. on bank issues be repealed. Resolved, that when the bill known as the Brawley and Spencer Bill which the Committee on Banking and Currency has ordered reported to the House is called up for action an amendment be offered repealing the prohibitory tax on State banks, that ample time be afforded for discussion if necessary, to secure this the Com-mittee on Rules be requested to take

FIFTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

Associated Press squeed-wire Service.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—SEN-ATE.—A harmless-looking resolution introduced by Senator Dolph, gave rise to a sharp discussion and some lively personalities today. It provided for the discharge of the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds from the consideration of Dub for the erection of public buildings in Oregon. This called out a statement from the chairman of the committee, Senator Vest, that no discrimination had been shown in building bills, but no bills had been favorably reported or account of the that no discrimination had been shown in building bills, but no bills had been favorably reported on account of the depleted condition of the country's exchequer. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Public Buildings. The Wolcott resolution for the coinage of Mexican dollars at United States mints was laid before the Senate and Senator Gallinger read a communication favoring the resolution. He said that while he cast a refuctant vote for the repeal of the Sherman law, he thought that the time was approaching when some action would have to be taken by Congress to give the country a larger volume of currency, and when that time came he might have some remarks to make on the subject which would probably be contrary to the views of the people of his State. The resolution was briefly debated, when Senator McPherson withdrew the amendment offered by him yesterday to insert the words "for export," as he thought the Sherman amendment agreed to yesterday covered the points of his proposed amendment. The resolution as amended was then agreed to and is as follows:

Resolved, that the President of the

and is a smended was then agreed to and is as follows:
Resolved, that the President of the United States, with a view to encourage and extend our commercial relations with China and other Asiatic countries, be required, if not incompatible with the public interests, to enter into negotiations with the Republic of Mexico looking to the coinage by the United States at the mints, of a standard Mexican dollar, under some agreement with the said Republic of Mexico as to seigniorage, method and the amount of said coinage, and that he further report the result of his negotiations to the Senate.

Senator Aldrich announced that the amount of said coinage, and that he further report the result of his negotiations to the Senator. Senator Aldrich announced that the Senators of the Republican side of the Chamber were anxious to proceed with the consideration of the tariff solil in an orderly manner, which would not interfere with the comfort of the Senators. "I would suggest," he went on, "that we are willing on this side of the chamber, for a week, at least, that the Senate shall meet at 12 o'clock each day, and the tariff bill shall be taken up at 1 o'clock and continue before the Senate until 5 o'clock each day without dilatory motions." It was agreed that the proposition should prevail until Monday next.

The resolution of Senator Allen to limit general debate on the tariff bill to June, 4 and to take a final vote on June 5 was laid before the Senate. Several amendments were offered and finally the resolution was referred to the Committee on Rules. The hour of 2 o'clock arrived, the tariff bill was laid before the Senate and Mr. Hodge spoke in opposition to it. He treated the question of tariff purely as a business matter and said that if the manufacturers make no money they will not employ labor. Under free trade manufacturers make no money they will not employ labor. Under free trade manufacturers make no money they will not employ labor. Under free trade manufacturers make no money they will not employ labor. Under free trade manufacturers make no money they will not employ labor. Under free trade manufacturers make no money they will not employ labor. Under free trade manufacturers make no money they will not employ labor. The hour of 20 the country. As a result free trade England's record in agriculture is a record of disaster. Under protection the trade of the United States from 1870 to 1880 increased nearly four times as much as that of England, and from 1880 to 1890 more than seven times greater. The speaker showed the advantages of reciprocity. The wealth of the country was in production and its strength in producers. Consumers o munity.

"We should first secure the market," he said, "and then increase outside trading. Protection and invention enabled us to pay the highest wages, lower the price of necessities and raise the standard of living. To abandon protection would be to lower wages and the standard of living. To abandon protection would be to lower wages and the standard of living. To abandon protection would be to lower wages and the standard of living and increase the world's prices by withdrawing American competition."

The question of wages was thus far trifling compared with the reduction under free trade. He had no fear of the ultimate result, believing in the end it would not cast aside that which protected us from the deadly competition of races with a lower standard of living.

The Senator concluded his speech at 4:30 o'clock, with an eloquent peroration, which was warmiy applauded from the galleries.

speech, which he would have read from the desk. Thereupon he sent up an Associated Press builetin, stating that the New York Legislature had passed a resolution of thanks to Senator Hill for his speech in opposition to the tariff bill in the Senate yesterday. This was greeted with some applause in the gallery, which the Vice-President checked.

Senator Gray of Delaware explained the action of the New York Legislature by saying that the Legislature of New York was overwhelmingly Republican. "Yes," replied Senator Aldrich, smilingly, "but not by such a majority as shown by the dispatch. This is a majority of fourteen on a joint ballot, so, at least forty Democrats must have voted for the resolution."

The Senate then went into executive session, after which it adjourned until 12 o'clock tomorrow.

HOUSE.—There was a question to

The Senate then went into executive session, after which it adjourned until 12 o'clock tomorrow.

HOUNED—There was a question today, when the House met, as to the order of business. An attempt was made to consider some Senate amendments to a bridge bill, when Mr. Reed argued that the House must proceed to vote on the motion to discharge the warrants issued to the sergeant-arms, under the resolution of March 19, for the absentees. The motion came over from last Saturday.

Mr. Reed contended that the House presented an unseemly spectacle, as members were under threat of arrest, and that the report of the sergeant-atter of private rights of members. Finally it was decided to allow the whole subject to go over until tomorrow.

subject to go over until tomorrow.

Bills were passed for the protection game in Yellowstone Park, and for e punishment of crime in the park tension of the law and jurisdiction the Wyoming United States District to its territory, and to grant chief ju tices in the Territories power to appoi commissioners to take proof of land cases.

The House then went into committee of the whole, and resumed consideration of the Postoffice Appropriation Bill. The pending question was a point of order raised by Mr. Henderson, chairman of the Postoffice Committee, against an amendment offered by Mr. Dunphy to prevent the manufacture of postage stamps by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing under the contract recently awarded. The point of order was sustained. The amendment to reduce from $243,000 to $180,000 the appropriation for the manufacture of stamps was adopted. An amendment providing that all publications purporting to be issued periodically to subscribers, but which are really books or parts of books, to be subject to the rates providing for third-class matter when transmitted through the mails, was adopted.

The first against the appropriation ommissioners to take proof of when transmitted through the was adopted.

The fight against the appropriation of $196,314, for special mail facilities on the trunk line from Springfield, Mass. via New York and Washington, to Atlanta and New Orleans, then began. In the course of the debate which followed, Mr. Bryan of Nebraska took the floor, and, ostensibly speaking of the amendment, made a reply to the recently-published letter of Mr. Reed recently-published letter of Mr to C. L. B. Vaughan of Hutel Kan., in which he criticised Mr. Kan., in which he criticised m. Bryal for using, in his speech made in Den ver, an extract from one of his (Reed's) Boston speeches. From the letter, which was given in these dis patches, Mr. Reed complained that the extract taken from its contents con extract taken from its contents conveyed a wrong impression. Mr. Bryar stated that the extract he used had not been taken from its contents, but that he had used all of the published report of the speech. Moreover, he stated that Reed's letter of explanation stated that Reed's letter of explanation, was written deliberately and reiterated practically the idea contained in the speech from which he had quoted. He proceeded to characterize the speech as an appeal to sectionalism, in an appeal to the selfishness of New England. While Reed told the West that all the States were equally interested in the preservation of the protective tariff, he told Massachusetts that she was most interested. It was a remarkable utterance from setts that she was most interested it was a remarkable utterance from a leader of the Republican party. H called attention to the discrepancy in Mr. Reed's letter. He spoke of his reference to the Wilson bill in the reference to the Wilson bill in the speech, whereas, as a matter of fact, the Wilson bill was not reported until a month after this speech was delivered. He called attention to Mr. Reed's letter, he said, because he did not want some Western Republican, proceeding on the same line, to argue that the tariff should be wiped out in order that the West might at least start upon her manufacturing career, and finally achieve the power and presettige now enjoyed by New England. He wanted the country to know that Mr. Reed, while he stood was now that He wanted the country to know that Mr. Reed, while he stood up for protection to the whole country in the halls of Congress, in Massachusetts he held up the questions, "Ignorance of the South" and the "Rapacious West" and pleaded for special privileges for New England. (Democratic applause.) Mr. Reed listened to Mr. Bryan attentists! When he had finished Mr. Reed and pleaded for special privileges for New England. (Democratic applause.)

Mr. Reed listened to Mr. Bryan attentively. When he had finished Mr. Reed rose. The incident was of little importance, he said. Its only significance was Mr. Bryan had taken what he had said in Boston and put it forth in Denver as Reed's positive declaration that the passage of the Wilson bill would result in building up Western manufactures to the destruction of those in the East. He was unwilling that this mistaken supposition should go abroad unrectified. He found that the newspapers of the West in the midst of the ruins of the Democratic party needed some startling lie to come and go on. No man here would have placed a wrong construction on his speech. Every one knew when it was delivered, although the bill had not been reported, that free raw materials were to be used to appease New England.

There was no doubt the course of the empire would continue to move westward, but it should move westward without carrying in its wake the ruin of the consumer as well as the manufacturer. The destruction of the manufacturer would be destruction to the great manufacturing plants. Millions untold would be lost, and when rebuilt they would go westward. If this process went on naturally it would be to the advantage of the whole people. The Republican doctrine on protection believed in no class as did the doctrine of the Wilson bill. It believed that the American people should do the work.

Without acting on the amendment the committee rose, and at 5 o'clock the House adjourned.

Employees of the Grand Island Road Subject to the Union Pacific Schedule.

ST. JOSEPH (Mo.,) April 10.—George Vroman, F. E. Gilliand and D. J. Kelly, representing the employees of the Grand Island road, were in consultation with General Manager Robinson to day regarding the adoption of the wage schedule in force upon the Union Pacific main line. There is no doubt about the schedule being adopted, the decision of Judge Caldwell applying to the branches as well as to the main line.

Breckinridge Not Alone in Iniquity.

Other Men Had Their Petty Amours.

Queer Argument by Counsel for Defendant.

Men, but Never Met Them-Miss Madeline Pollard Royally "Roasted."

WASHINGTON, April 10.-Col. Phil Thompson, formerly a member of Congress from Kentucky and one of the best-known men in Washington, entertained the jury in the Pollard-Breckinridge case today with a pyro-technic speech, such as rarely has been heard in this section. The bluegrass orator once had a great reputa-tion as a stump-speaker and Washington had a chance to see on what the fame was founded. Col. Thompson is a thick-set, chubby, red-faced man with scant hair on the top of his head. He talks in a free and easy, but exceedingly vigorous manner. His speech was sprinkled with anecdotes, some of them too broad for reproduction, and his views regarding the stability of the seventh commandment will doubt-less provoke a response from the pulpits of New England.

Madeline Pollard did not hear the terms in which her fellow-Kentuckian referred to her as an adventuress and shameless woman, because she left the court as soon as Mr. Carlisle had finished his plea in her behalf. The speech of Col. Thompson will be concluded tomorrow and then Maj. Ben Butterworth, another ex-Congressman, who is a mild-spoken Quaker, will follow him. pits of New England.

THE DAY'S PROCEEDINGS. Calderon Carlisle Goes Off and Col. Phil

asociated Press Leased-wire Service WASHINGTON, April 10 .- During the progress of the Breckinridge trial Judge Bradley was engaged in reading a letter. He called Attorneys Carlisle, Butterworth in consultation finally one juror for further and finally one juror for further consultation. It was probably one of the anonymous letters which have been pouring in by bushels since the trial begin. Miss Pollard appeared in a most becoming hat. Breckinridge vas paler than usual.

Attorney Carlisle took up a review of the testimony and devoted himself for the first half hour to a discussion of Mrs. Blackburn's testimony. Commenting on the testimony of Claude de Laroche Francis, cousin of Ward McAllister and nephew of Marquis de la Roche, chamberlain to the Pope Carlisle laid stress on the fact that in response to the request for the production of Miss Pollard's letters only those advantageous to the defense were brought forward. The lawyer brought forward a workbasket which had belonged to the late Mrs. Breck-inridge and which the colonel had de-nied having given to Miss Pollard. He reminded the jury of the testimony of Mary Yancy, the colored cook, who had seen the pair sitting on a sofa together with the basket between them.

Mr. Carlisle passed on to the time when Miss Pollard took Breckinridge from the side of his lawful wife with the quotation from Miss Pollard's testimony; "I said, come with me, will you? and he came." To the interview in the office of the Chief of Police in which Breckinridge had sworn, clasping her hands, to marry her on the 31st of May, the defendant asked the jury to believe his word, unsupported by corroborating testimony or conduct, that the engagement of marriage had been a concerted subterfuge. The speaker continued: "I ask you to judge him only by what he has told you here on the stand. The father of a family of eight children, with a devoted wife, he tells you he lived nine years in calm, deliberate adultery with this woman, not giving way to sudden passion, not led by misguided love, but lust not love was the bond between them. During these years he was posing before the world, as a Christian statesman, a man high in the counsels of the Presbyterian church, giving counsel to saints and sinners, while his life was a lie. He asks you to believe now, on the ground that during half a dozen interviews with Mrs. Blackburn, a woman high in standing in her State, who must have won the admiration of every mother's son in this box, he told to her, and carried on a complicated lie.

After comparing the social position of the quotation from Miss Pollard's testimony: "I said, come with me, will you', and he came." To the interesting the content of the interest which Breckinridge had sworn, classing her hands, to marry her on the stand, when defendant asked the list of May, the defendant asked the jury to believe his word, unsupported by corroborating testimony or conduct the content of the property of a family of eight children, with a devay of a family of eight children, with a devay of the property of a family of eight children, with a devay of the property of schoolgirl at that. My God, if she ever gets out of her short dresses what a robber and plunderer she will be."

Judge Bradley here interrupted the speech with a remonstrance, saying: "Now, Mr. Thompson, take care not to use such expressions as that."
"What have I used, Your Honor?" the lawver inquired.

the lawyer inquired.
"You said, 'My God.'"
"I beg your perdon; that was an inadvertence."

Thompson discussed the probability of a young woman accompanying Col. Breckinridge to an assignation house in Cincinnati and, as she claimed, the day after a drive when he had made improper advances and she had repulsed him.

After the noon recess Col. Thompson resumed his speech, characterizing Miss Pollard as "the most skillful adventuress who ever made a track through a courtroom." He argued that dates showed that Col. Breckinridge could not have been the father of her first child. To give the plaintiff a verdict would be to convict John Brandt, Hiram Kaufman, Mollie Singlebower and the defendant of wilful perjury. He referred to Miss Pollard's statement to Claude de la Roche Francis that Col. Breckinridge was a lovable and noble man, and said the defendant had been the soul of generosity throughout his dealings with the woman. Her letters to Rhodes were blind, wooden letters to the man who had seduced her, and she was demanding money of a poor old man. She went at Rhodes booted and spurred, and it was "stand and deliver," telling him he could not come and see her unless he put up. Were these the demands of a school girl to the generous old man who was furnishing money for her education?

Col. Thompson, continuing, said Miss Pollard had deliberately stated that she had brought this suit for revenge, whereupon, Mr. Wilson corrected him. Judge Bradley said: "There is no evidence to that effect in the case," and Mr. Butterworth said: "I think she did not say that."

Col. Thompson said he hoped the jury would correct him if he made any mistakes, as he had not tried a case for fifteen years, and did not pretend to be up in talk. Miss Pollard had gone to the convent last year, not knowing herchild born several years before was dead. This was the first-born of a person that pretends to be a human being," he said. "After eight or nine years, when she had never raised her inhuman wonconduct she lays it on this man. We are appealed to by this woman in stage-play, by the sacred name of mother, trying to coin croco-odle book to show that it ran its entire contents from 1887 to 1888, so that if the transaction had occurred, it had not been in 1888. The charges in the book might have been to Clifton Breckinridge. He (Thompson) found his own name in the book, although he did not remember having had any work done by Miss Lowell, to whom he referred as "the old lady."

Col. Thompson contended, in his picturesque way, that it "knocked the stuffing out of the case." The plantiff swore that the name of her last baby was "Dietz Carlisle," when the records of the asylum showed the only baby brought there at the time was named "Dietz Downing." The other side had raised a great fuss about the colonel's signing her examination papers for the civil service, certifying that she had a moral character. "There was not any fussing or swearing or kicking a dust along about that time," he said. "Both were pursuing a course of immorality, agreeable to each other, and were telling any little lies that came along to help each other out. Every man in the court has told lies about these little domestic matters. If there are any whe have not, they had better go out for has told lies about these little domestic matters. If there are any who have not, they had better go out for awhile, because they were too sanctimonious for the place. But the attorneys on the other side seemed to think that this case was like that of the old Kentucky preacher, who was tried for adultery with one of the sisters,
The jury, all men, returned a verdict, finding the minister guilty, and acquitted the sister." Miss Poliard's testimony, he said, and from which he read, showed that both had lied. Inone instance, she had called him out one instance, she had called him out of Chamberlain's to help her out of a scrape, "and Billy always came," he said.

THE CHINESE TREATY.

The Opponents of the Measure Have Grounds for Encouragement.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The opwashington, April 10.—The opponents of ratification of the Chinese treaty, are decidedly encouraged over the prospects since the treaty was taken up in executive session on Saturday. They have been led to believe that many Republican Senators will assist in opposing ratification and are not without hope of assistance from the Democratic side. The fact that a two-thirds vote is necessary to secure ratification of the treaty is favorable to the opposition. They will first try to defeat the treaty and if they fall will then seek to have it amended. Senator White of California, who is quoted as being favorable to the treaty, is expected to reach Washington this week. His position will probably have influence on the Democratic side. It now looks as if the opposition could delay the consummation until the tariff is disposed of.

ELECTIONS.

Various Municipal Contests With Republican Gains.

The Trenton Council Will Show 6 Majority for the Latter-Jersey City Gives Them 5 Majority-Other

Associated Press Leased-wire Service ALBANY (N. Y.,) April 10 .- One of the quietest municipal elections ever held in this city was followed by almost pandemonium on the public streets, when the seturns showed that the Democratic ticket had been defeated by a tremendous majority in favor of the pure election party, com-posed of Republicans and Independent Democrats. The battle of the day was between the Democratic organization here, led by D. C. Herrick, a supporter of Cleveland, on the side of James W. Rooney, its candidate for Mayor, and the Honest Elections party, composed of Republicans and Hill Democrats, supporting a combination ticket, com-posed of members of both parties. The esult tonight is that the party that as controlled the city for fifteen years must leave the offices.

The Organization party last fall gave a majority for the Democratic nominee for Secretary of State of 3359, while tolight it gave more than that majority on the other side. Orin E. Wilson (Rep.) is elected Mayor by 3424 major-ity. The two Aldermen-at-large are Republicans, and the Honest Election party men, respectively. In the Council there will be five Republicans, five Honest Election men, five Organization Democrats, besides the two Aldermen above mentioned. The Board of Supervisors (city only,) Honest Election party, eleven; Organization Democrats, six. Mr. Spooner Tells How the Famous Ord Was Made-He Puts a Different Phase on the Mat-

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

MILWAUKEE, April 10.—The Judge Jenkins investigation by the House sub-committee of the Judiciary Committee came to a sudden end as far as Mi waukee is concerned, at 5 o'clock to-night. All of the witnesses were examined, and as there was no documentary evidence to go over there was nothing else to do, and the affair will now continue in Washington. The witnesses to-day were Chiefs Wilkinson, of the train-men; Clark, of the conductors; Sargent, of the firemen; Ramsey, of the tele-graphers; Attorney George H. Miller, General Manager Kendrick, Receiver Oakes, ex-Senator Spooner, Attorney J. W. Curtis, of the Northern Pacific road.

The interest was in Mr. Spooner's testimony. He testified that he, with Attorney Miller, had dictated the issu-ance of the first injunction which forbade the employees of the Northern Pacific from striking, and also the or-der which was issued by Judge Jenkins. He said this was customary among attorneys in like cases. He said, however, that he had nothing to do with the supplementary injunction. Mr. Spooner said he took for the basis of the order for the injunction a decision by Judge Pardee, of the Federal Court, in the Higgins case, but Attorney Curtis admitted in answer to a question by Attorney Harper, that there was no precedent for Judge Jenkins's order. There was some lively sparring between Mr. Spooner and Attorney Harper, who represented the labor chiefs. The testimony of the labor chiefs was similar to that of Chief Clark and Chief Sargent yesterday. They all agreed that the injunction prevented them from exercising their constitutional rights. He said this was customary among at that the injunction prevented their trial their constitutional rights. They were unanimous in saying that no man had felt compelled to remain at work, but what they objected to was the application of such a power by the court, and they did not think it was justice.

S. W. Arnold, secretary and treasurer s. W. Arnold, secretary and treasurer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, was called to the stand. He was asked by Attorney Curtis if it was not true that among the stronger and better labor organizations, strikes were discouraged, and if they were not generally considered an evil. The answer was in the affirmative. Mr. Boatner asked if the wisdom, judgment and conservativeness of the executive officers did not have much to do with keeping the labor organizations in good condition.

being an executive officer," said nold, "I can answer that frankly Mr. Arnold, "Team answer that frankly in the affirmative."

Chief Clark was recalled and Mr. Stone took him in hand. The Congresman asked him if it was not the desire and purpose of these organizations to get in their ranks all men of their class, in other words, to form a trust or monopoly as a monopoly of money or capital, so as to control absolutely their different lines of work. Clark answered in the affirmative. Then followed quite a discussion in which Boatanswered in the affirmative. Then followed quite a discussion in which Boatner and Stone of the committee, and Mr. Clark took part. Mr. Clark stated explicitly what the laboring men objected to in Judge Jenkins's decision The objections, which were two, lay against the clause prohibiting the men to quit work with or without notice, or in any way to cripple the road, and the clause restraining the labor chiefs from advising and conferring with the men.

The feature of the afternoon session in fact the chief factor of the day, was that of ex-Senator Spooner's examination. Spooner was preceded by D. G. Ramsay, who gave testimony similar to that of the other chiefs, relating to methods of ordering a strike, and to the effect upon his organization of the strike ordered. Ther questions addressed to Mr. Spooner headed at once toward the authorship of the injunction.

"I partly prepared the first injunc-tion," said-Mr. Spooner, "and the order was probably written by counsel, though I do not recollect whether I though I do not recollect whether I assisted Mr. Miller in writing it.

"How fong did Judge Jenkins hold the petition under advisement before issued?" Mr. Boatner asked.

"From Monday morning until Tuesday morning."

"From Monday morning until Tuesday morning."

Spooner then proceeded to tell all he knew about the preparation and issuance of the order. He was telegraphed for to go to St. Paul on the 12th of December, and there met General Man-for to go to St. Paul on the 12th of December, and there met General Manager Kendrick. He informed him of the proposed reduction in wages, which, in the condition of the road, seemed necessary. Kendrick stated that the majority of the employees of the road appreciated the condition of affairs, and would not object to reduced wages. There was an element, however, which threatened to strike if new schedules went into effect, destroy engines and damage property. Some of the men, Kendrick said, questioned the right of the receivers to change the wage schedule without the authority of the court. Kendrick had not told the receivers of this state of affairs, and Spooner advised him to do so at once.

told the receivers of this state of affairs, and Spooner advised him to do so at once.

The next Mr. Spooner heard of the matter was a telegram to come to Milwaukee to meet Receivers Payne, Oakes and Rouse. Kendrick was there, and they consulted about the new schedule, and the necessity for an injunction. The new schedule Spooner had a hand in preparing for submission to the court. He dictated part of it and Mr. Miller a part. He presented the matter to Judge Jenkins in chambers, and called his attention to the portion which might be open to discussion, but which he (Spooner) told the Judge was sustainable, and referred to Judge Pardee's decision to fortify his position. He told the Judge of the threatened trouble by the men along the road because of the new schedule. The Judge took the matter under advisement, and on Tuesday issued the order as prayed.

Boatner asked if it was the common practice in Western courts for judges to issue permanent injunctions ex parte in chambers, and Spooner replied that it was not the practice anywhere, and that the finjunction allowed was not permanent, nor was it meant to be. Spooner was in the chair for more than an hour. His explanation of the order, and what it was meant to accomplish, put a different phase on it from what the labor chiefs expected. Mr. Curtis, one of the counsel for the receivers, was the last witness called before adjournment. His testimony was unimportant.

A lively shooting scrape took place here at 1 o'clock this after the result of which is that Syl-r Patton is a corpse and Frank Benn is lying in the hospital shot through the lung and shoulder. The particulars, as nearly as can at this time be learned, are about as follows: A month, or six weeks, ago Patton's wife left him and went to live with her mother on a ranch near Springdale, Patton remaining in town, doing odd jobs at his trade, carpentering, when he could find anything to do. A MYSTERIOUS CASE

A Wealthy Land-owner Disappears.

His Property and Money Held by Another.

Prof. W. A. Saunders is Called on to Explain.

San Dlogo Day at the Fair-The Heath Jury-Chris Evans's Denial-An Albuquerque Bank President is Indicted.

By Telegraph to The Times. SAN FRANCISCO, April 10 .- (Spe cial Dispatch.) Fresno advices say that one of the most sensational events known in this county for years is juscoming to light. The chief features are already known, but the details are still unexplained. It is nothing less than the probable death of one of the wealthiest men in Fresno county and stealing of property and money to the amount of about $70,000. Of this there amount of about $70,000. Of this there are 3000 acres of as fine land as can be found in the San Joaquin Valley and this land, has been deeded myster-flously from hand to hand, until it is now in the hand of Prof. W. A. Saunders, who has been mixed up in a strange transaction which even he himself is unable to explain.

At the mouth of Hill's Valley, thirteen miles east of the town of Reedly, on the edge of Fresno Plains, lived for many years an old man, William Woolton, a native of England. He Woolton, a native of England. He was a bachelor and lived in a house of one room, nearly always alone or with some hired man who worked on his lands. Woolton owned a tract of 3000 acres of the best orange land in the county and had, besides other farms among the hills, money in the Fresno banks and stocks in San Francisco. He was considered worth not less than $70,000. On February 1, this year, he was seen alriving with from his house in "Genpany" with Fron. Saunders, who had been these three days, claiming that he was writing for the arrival of a friend win would buy the old man's land? After Woolton and Sounders had driven away, the hired man, Charles

After Woolton and Sounders had driven away, the hired man, Charles Rohloff, went of the house and found a tin box belonging to Woolton open on the table. In it were notes for $4000, a bank book on the Freene Loan and Savings Bank for $3000 and 2600 shares of the Freenes' Insurance Company fund, Son Francisco. Woolton had never before left his papers about the house, but had always kept them concealed among the rocks in the woods. ld.

Last Friday a representative of the dd Fellows' lodge in Visalia, of which Woolton was a member, arrived in Fresno to investigate the strange and unexplained disappearance of the old unexplained disappearance of the old man. The case was placed in the hands of Sheriff Scott, and he set his deputies at work. They have unearthed a state of affairs which is strange, to say the least. The officers refuse to talk, but eaough has been learned to show that semething is wrong, and that a most thorough investigation will be made.

THE ROYALTY.

King Humbert, Queen Margaret and the Crown Prince at Florence.

FLORENCE, April 10.—(By Atlantic Cable.) King Humbert arrived from Venice today and was received by the lends such an air of mystery to the transaction is the fact that no man, woman or child in this county or anywhere else has been jound who had ever seen or heard of Knausch except Prof. Saunders. All avening the knereby a man may be traced have been earched in vain for a clew to film. Prof. Saunders said Knausch was in Presno and drove out with a livery team to Woolton's place and back again with a bag of gold coin in his buggy. Yet no livery stable and no hotel in this city ever saw or heard of such a man, and the conclusion is that Knausch is a mythical person, and has no existence.

Stories of how the lands of Woolton were bought and paid for, as told by Prof. Saunders, are strange. He says Knausch went up into the hills and carried $20,000 in gold coin with him paid it down for the land, gave a check for $25,000 more, and left with Woolton, and they have disappeared. Prof. Saunders was asked for an interview. He lives eight miles from Fresno, and has a farm and nursery. His story, almost verbatim, is as follows: "Yes, I have heard stories in circulation about the disappearance of Mr. Woolton, and people up country are excited over it. They have even threatened me with personal viclence. They think I had something to do with making away with him. I don't know where he is, but I will find him. I must do it to set myself right in the eyes of the people. It will till you all about the sale or the land.

'I have been working up the sale for years. This man, John, for a threy will have been working up the sale for years. This man, John, for a horting and they have year to wait there for knausch that he would take it at that figure, I went up to Woolton's place on January 25 or this year to wait there for Knausch to come down with the money to close the wolld take it at that figure, I went up to Woolton's place on January 25 or this year to wait there for Knausch to come down with the money to close the wolld take it at that figure, I went up to Woold no gold coin in their hands. give you $45,000, $20,000 cash, and my check on a bank in Los Angeles for the balance.

"Woolton walked out of the room, looked all about his fields and, coming back, exclaimed: 'It's a bargain; I will take it; let us get out of here. With that he scraped the money back into the valise and started off."

Saunders says the last he saw of Woolton was on the road to Fresno, when Woolton was in the buggy with Knausch and Graves. Saunders says he received several letters from Woolton, the last being dated at San Bernardino, saying Knausch was in bad health and had decided to go to some hot springs. The neighbors declare Saunder's story is gauzy. Rohloff, who worked for Woolton, says Saunders has told several conflicting stories about the arrival of Knausch. No one saw Knausch come or go and no livery team was hired, as Saunders says it was. The general belief is that the old man was murdered by some one and that the deeds cre fraudulent.

age of 86.7 per cent, for the entire country. The average for rye is 36 per cent.

The averages of wheat for the principal States are as follows: Kentucky, 83; Ohio, 90; Michigan, 83; Indiana, 90; Illinois, 87; Missouri, 88; Kansas, 72; Nebraska, 85; Iowa, 87. The condition of the soft is generally unfavorable to planting and germination. Very little damage nas been done by the Hessian fly since seeding-time. The weather has been generally favorable.

The veturns in regard to the effect on wheat resulting from the recent cold snaps are not so satisfactory nor conclusive as is desirable. The injury to the crop is undoubtedly considerable, if not great; but the comments of correspondents accompanying the reports would seem to indicate that the full extent of the damage was comparatively slight. In the South Atlantic and Southern States the injury was marked and decided, with perhaps the exception of Texas, while in the States of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Kentucky the injury from frost is, to a considerable extent, contingent upon the future meteorological conditions. The returns indicate that freezing to the ground was quite prevalent in rich, moist lands, but with roots left untouched, or at least alive with good prospects of recuperation on the recurrence of fair weather. In the States of Nansas, Nebraska and California the impaired condition of the crop has not resulted so much from frost as from cold, dry weather. High winds are also noted by our Kansas correspondent as one of the causes of the unfavorable conditions. Rain is much needed in these as well as in other important wheat-producing States. The condition of farm animals, together with the estimated losses, will appear as usual in the forthcoming April bulletin.

the city today. Speaking of the recent Indian trouble near the agency, he told the real cause of the uprising. It appears that T. S. Carter and W. S. Breeding, white mei, went to the camp of a Cheyenne known as Chief Hill. about one hundred miles west of El. Reno and claimed a pony which the Indian had. Chief Hill finally gave up the pony, when Breeding, without the least provocation, drew his revolver and shot him twice, inflicting what have since proved fatal wounds. The have since proved fatal wounds. The two white men then drove rapidly off, Hill, raising his gun, shot at the, flee-ing horsemen and his second shot struck Breeding, and his third shot broke Carter's arm.

Carter hurried on telling every one whom he met that Breeding had been murdered. The news soon spread and the whites took to arms. Great excitement reigned everywhere, the whites fearing an attack while the Indians on the other hand were scared. The whites' demonstration became so fierce that the Indians fied to the timp of Whirlwind, their chief, for protection not remaining to fight as has been reported.

The Southern Pacific Refuses to Haul

- to Defeat the Courts by Convert of the Army to a Religious Body-

Fideno (Nev.,) April 10.—When the section of the east-bound passenger train, made up of baggage, express, mail and four cars of time freight, arrived this morning, the Reno regiment of the industrial army boarded the tops of freight cars and refused to off. After consultation with the railroad men, the yard engine slipped down, coupled on the hind car, a pin drawn between the mail and freight cars, and, before the army realized what was going on, the two sections were flying in opposite directions The mail section stopped west of town. The freight section backed on a siding east of town. A regular engine, which took a run west, coupled on the mail and went through town, forty miles an hour, thus be avoided.

Leaving the army on their perch.

Lieut. White, who left on the first section, with a ticket for Wadsworth, when told of the action of the Utah court, said he would overcome that difficulty easily by changing the name of the army to "Heaven at Hand," and call it a religious body, on a pligrimage to Washington, and, as the Constitution of the United States provides that no one can be interfered with in the performance of religious duties, a conflict with the laws will thus be avoided.

M. Gorman of San Francisco, who was appointed to succeed Lieut. White, was arrested at 1 o'clock on a charge of leading a riot. While a majority of the army was following him to the Courthouse, another train pulled out with only eight of the commonwealers aboard. The balance were ordered to disperse, and went into camp on the outskirts of town.

A CLIMAX.

OGDEN, April 10.-The climax in industria! army affairs may be reached in a short time. Gov. West has given an ultimatum to the Southern Pacific read. The militia surround the indus-trial camp, and the railfroad does not trial camp, and the raiffoad does not appear to be anxious to make a move. The men are peaceful so far, but say they will go East on the Union Pacific, and it is not known what the methods of the industrials will be. The Southern Pacific road has just refused to obey the order of the court. Gov. West has given one hour to comply with it, otherwise he will forcibly take possession of the cars, look the men in them and take them out of the Territory.

Mayor Brough ordered a carload of provisions for the army. Many men are sick and suffering for lack of clothing. One died last night. He was identified as a Utah ex-convict. B. Abbott, a butcher, died today, from exposure in coming over the mountains. The army is opposed to returning. "Gen." Kelly put the question to those in favor of going to Washington, to ride, if possible, and if not to walk, and 1200 hands went up. Only one voted to return.

Kelly then made a stirring speech to the men, picturing the privations of a long brip on foot, but the men were firm. The crowd then gave three cheers each, for Gov. West. "Gen." Kelly and "Col." Baker, and three times three for Kelly's wife. Two thousand loaves of bread, 1000 pounds of beef, potatoes, etc., have just arrived from Ogden charity societies.

After the men had decided to go East, Gov. West warned them against an unwise decision. A rumor is current that unless the army is sent out tonight it will attempt to capture and run the Union Pacific train east, but it is almost certain that the army will not move tonight. The Southern Pacific officials refuse all assistance, saying it is impossible to find men to run the train. It is openly sa'd that the road is doing all possible to defeat the Governor. The latter declares that he will not yield an inch, and that delay will be brief.

At an interview today with Gov.

will not yield an inch, and that delay will be brief.

At an interview today with Gov. West, "Gen." Kelly of the industrials said that Gov. Waite extended a cordial invitation to the army and assured them a warm welcome. Gov. West told him they must return west. Kelly replied he did not believe the men would board the cars, and was informed that the Governor had means of putting them on.

of putting them on.

of putting them on.

The Governor had a stormy interview with Superintendent Knapp of the Southern Pacific. In which Knapp said he could not return the men unless paid full fare.

Maj.-Gen. Houbert and Lieut. White passed through on the westbound train tonight from Wadsworth with tickets for Sacramento. A number of the army got wind of it, boarded the car and told the leaders what they thought of them in no complimentary language, claiming they were getting away with money collected in Reno, leaving the army to rustle for themselves. The leaders only replied the money was all used for expenses; that they were going to California to bring the balance of the army through and take these men with them. All is quiet tonight and there was no attempt to board the east-bound passenger train.

At 8 o'clock tonight the situation re-to board the east-bound passenger train.

At 8 o'clock tonight the situation remains in statu quo. The industrial army has not moved. Gov. West has ordered them into the cars and Supt. Knapp of the Southern Pacific has ordered them not to enter them. Gov. West has received a telegram from C. Huntington, San Francisco, in which he says: "We have taken these men East in the course of business, hoping the condition of the industrial army would be be'tered thereby, as they cannot get work here. The officers of the Southern Pacific Company cannot certainly move them westward at less than regular rates, and if anything less than regular rates are to be charged it can only be done through negotiations at this office."

In reply to this Gov. West sent a long message going over the whole

In reply to this Gov. West sent a In reply to this Gov. West sent a long message, going over the whole case in detail; the position he had taken, which was upheld by the courts and that the acts of the railroad were illegal and in violation of the most sacred rights of the community. The Governor's dispatch concluded as follows: "The acts of all those participating in thus inflicting our community cannot be too harshly characterized. I am determined that the authority of the Territory shall be maintained and the Jecree of its courts enforced and the property and lives of maintained and the decree of its courts enforced and the property and lives of its people protected."

What move will be made next is a matter of conjecture. Meantime it is believed that if the army or any part of it can escape the military they will make their way on foot to some point east and take chances of some kind of transportation with the Union Pa cific.

At 10 o'clock tonight the attorneys for the Territory had Superintendent Knapp brought into court before Judge Miner to show cause why his company has failed to take the industrial army back to California, as ordered by the court yesterday, and to have the court order the United States Marshal toenforce the order at once. After hearing arguments the court took the matter under advisement till tomorrow morning. Knapp admitted to the Judge that he had violated the order of the court, and said he would continue to do so as long as his superior officers so instructed.

MORMONS FOR MEXICO.

MANTI (Utah,) April 2, 1894.—(Specia Correspondence.) Extensive prepara-tions are being made in the rural dis-tricts of Utah for a large emigration to Mexico this fall. A concession has been made to Brigham Young, Jr., a son of the former prophet, by which the Mormon church obtains control of 2,000,000 acres of choice land in North-ern Chihuahua. This land is repre-sented to be adapted to grazing and general farming, and suitable for col-ony life characteristic of Mormon set-

ony life characteristic of Mormon settlements.

The plan is for the church to retain the ownership of all the land and lease it in small tracts to settlers. None but those considered sound in the faith will be permitted to lease the lands. The conditions are that as long as a membership is held in the church the colonists may remain upon their farms and pay an annual rental. Whenever, for any reason, a colonist is excommunicated from the church all right and title to the property must be relinquished, and he shall remove from the colonies and surrender his right to all improvements which he may have made.

Many of the Mormons, especially those from foreign countries, are very much dissatisfied with their present surroundings in Utah. They feel out of place with gentiles in their midst, and regard them as enemies. Political divisions have caused disturbances which are inimical to the prosperity of their religion. The unity, once a distinct characteristic, is now practically destroyed, and they fear that their children will not remain faithful to the teachings of their fathers.

It is officially announced that polygamy will not be practiced in the proposed new colonies. At least twenty thousand persons will leave the Territory and join the Mexico colonies. Those not financially able to remove their effects will be assisted in emigrating and furnished farming implements and provisions for the first year. This is to be regarded as a loan, and will be returned to the board of trustees when the colonists are able to care for themselves.

The scheme is quite an extensive stroke of financiering. The colonists will engage in general farming and stockraising. Canals for irrigation will be constructed by co-operative tabor; stipulated annual rentals will be paid into the church treasury, and one-tenth of the income of every person over 8 years of age will come into the church as the regular tithing, according to their book of revelations. The fourney will be made by teams, and regular prairie schooners, prepared for the occasion, will carry the families, with provisions, seeds and farming implements.

The first celebration of La Fiesta de Los Angeles was inaugurated yesterday in a most successful and inspiriting manner, not to say "in a blaze of glory." It was undoubtedly an epoch in the history of the Angel City, to which, in later days, we shall all look

Considering the short time has elapsed since the idea of the flesta was first conceived, the result is indeed surprising. Such is the opinion of all who come in from the outside. They are loud in their expressurpassed their expectations.

There was great originality and va-riety in the floats. The boom and its "bust up" were happily treated, and furnished one of the most amusing features of the procession. The trades showing a marked improvement over anything that has yet been seen here, and yet they were not so numerous as hey should have been.

In the whole display, however, there was nothing which could compare with that made by the Chinese residents of Los Angeles. It was rich, unique, sudict of the spectators, residents as well as visitors. This is undoubtedly the first time that such a feature has been incorporated in an American procession in the United States. In view of the brilliant success which it achieved, the Chinese parade will doubtless become a regular feature of future celebrations of this character. The invitation and the prompt response will have the effect of producing a more perfect understand-ing and a better feeling between the

It has been remarked by a few who take a narrow view of things that it is works upon terms that are in any way not right for the city to spend money on festivities while so many people lack the necessaries of life. These critics appear to forget that such an affair as this necessitates the expenditure of a large amount of money, which finds its way among the people and gives employment to many men. Then, again there are the crowds who are gathered to Los Angeles, and who spend money. There were probably 25,000 outsiders in the city yesterday. Viewed merely from a financial standpoint, the flesta is a success: that is to say, from the present results. As a means of advertising Los Angeles, it is still more so, while as to its beneficial effect in stirring up the sluggish pulse of our social life and making the "wheels go round" there are no two

L. Nordlinger and Prof. Bessing gave an excellent exhibition of fencing, while H. Heffner and Tuttle were also good in the same exhibition of fencing, while H. Heffner and Tuttle were also good in the same line. The rest of the exercises consisted of pyramids, club-swinging by members of the club, horizontal bar by Messrs. Prager, Nordlinger, Willis, Foote, Weller and Bessing, and grouping by Messrs. Thayer and Heffner, Stephenson and Spencer, also tumbling by W. B. Sheckles and Charles Foote.

DUE TO DESPONDENCY.

The Sulcide of Solomon Landsburg by Hanging.

Solomon Landsberg, the proprietor of a fruit-stand on Spring street, near Eighth, committed suicide by hang-Ing yesterday afternoon.

For some time past Landsberg has been very despondent, on account of the loss of several sums of money which he had loaned to irresponsible persons, without security, but his only relatives, a son and daughter, had not the faintest suspicion that he consaw him at 1 o'clock yesterday after noon at the store, but while she was present he betrayed no sign of any indue excitement. After she left to se the parade, he must have immedi ately proceeded to put an end to him self, for, upon her return, at 5 o'clock he was dead, and life had evidently been extinct for some hours.

Landsberg lived in a little room, partitioned off in the rear of the store about his neck, had apparently rolled off the bed and slowly strangled to death.

Coroner Cates was notified soon after the deceased was found by his daughter, and the body was removed under his directions to Garrett & Chase's undertaking establishment, where an inquest will be held this morning. In one of Landsberg's pockets the sum of $139.70 was found, which was subsequently turned over to the son of the deceased by the Coroner.

A Lively Runaway.

About 4:30 o'clock yesterday after-noon a team attached to a vegetable wagon, driven by a Chinese named Chung Sing, became frightened at the sounds of revelry which greeted the parade at Sixth and Main streets and boited. Their driver pluckily held on to his lines for several blocks, but the horses took the bits in their teeth and dashed madiy toward the river. At the Mateo-street crossing the Chinese was thrown from his seat by the jolting of the wagon and in front of the rear wheels, both of which passed over him. Fortunately no bones were broken, but the shock of the fall stunned him, and when taken to the Receiving Hospital in the patrol wagon he was still anconscious. He soon recovered, however, and after resting for an hour or two departed, apparently but little the worse for his narrow escape. wagon, driven by a Chinese named

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10. SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—The annual meeting of the Central Pacific Railroad Company Acok place today. The following were elected directors: Isaac L. Requa, C. P. Huntington, William H. Mills, C. E. Bretherton, James O'B. Gunn, F. E. Spencer and Charles H. P. Eels, the latter succeeding R. P. Schwerin. Requa and Gunn are the successors of H. E. Huntington and C. F. Crocker, who resigned two weeks ago, Mr. Bretherton, representative of the English stockholders, who was expected to be present, did not appear, but Mr. Eels voted his proxies. The annual report for 1893 was read. It shows gross earnings $14,261,225, expenditures $13,476,508, balance $784,717, against $14,612,990, expenditures $13,761,612; balance $860,374 for 1892. The annual interest of $1,671,340, accruing on United States bonds payable by the company at their maturity in 1895 and 1899 must also be added to the above charges. The election of officers occurs Thursday,

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.-E. Hinton, resident agent of the Panama Railway Company, today confirmed recent statements that the railway company will run a steamship line between this port and Panama after May 1, succeeding the North American Navigation Company.

UNION PACIFIC VICTORY.

DENVER, April 10.—The annual meeting of the Union Pacific and Gulf meeting of the Union Pacific and Gulf system resulted in a victory for the Union Pacific people. The following directors were elected: Oliver Ames, representing the stock of the late F. L. Ames; Edwin F. Atkins, Samuel Carr, S. H. Clark, F. Gordon Dexter, G. M. Dodge, James G. Harris, Morgan Jones, Oliver M. Winks. James M. Harris was elected in place of John Evans. Evans's friends did not vote and falled to protest against the Union Pacific officials voting proxies and the matter will probably go to the courts. The directors have not yet met to elect officers.

W. H. Carlson, president of the San Diego and Phoenix Railroad and Mayor of San Diego, is in the city participating in the flesta festivities.

"Hear! Hear!"
(Los Angeles Herald:) An evening paper says that the "industrial army" intends to close up the parade with an insulting display, so as to show their condemnation of the fiesta, and to protest against the spending of money for such a popular jubilation when there are people in our midst who are in want. If any such attempt is made, it will be a good time for the police to do their duty and run in every mother's son of them. One would think that anybody who had an idea above a tortilla would see in this grand flesta something that will be beneficial to the city, put money in circulation and give something that will be beneficial to the city, put money in circulation and give employment to many who might otherwise be forced to remain idle. When Sir Toby Belch says to Maria: "Shall there be no more cakes and ale because thou art virtuous?" he gives a full and sufficient answer to this kind of cavil at rational diversions.

A. B. Fenton, a youth who claims to represent the Chicago Cham-ber of Commerce, was arrested by Detective Auble yesterday after by Detective Auble yesterday afternoon and locked up in the City Jail, charged with larceny. Young Fenton stole a bleycle belonging to one of Sam Hellman's clerks, which had been left at the curb near the corner of Third and Main streets, while the parade was exciting general attention, and attempted to pawn it for $25 immediately afterward. In order to show his good faith, he produced what purported to be a bill of sale for the wheel from L. E. Phillips of Chicago to Charles Wattress, which was dated July 10 last. Unfortunately for himself, however, he had not waited long enough after writing it to allow the ink to dry before presenting it, and this fact aroused suspicion and led to his arrest. When accused by the officer of the theft, Fenton broke down and confessed his guilt.

Normal School Entertainment.

The trustees and faculty of the State Normal School gave a pleasant reception last evening at the building to the Normal School boards who held their annual joint meeting yesterday.

The rooms were prettily decorated with fleur de lis, lilles, roses and ferns. The affair was well attended. Gen. Bidwell of Chico and State Superintendent of Schools Anderson made short addresses, after which refreshments were served.

While it is all right to buy a programme to remember La Fiesta by you should possess yourself of something more indestructible and more suitable as an object of commemoration than is a printed programme. You should buy a souvenir spoon, and when you start out to purchase a souvenir spoon fust recollect there is a place in town just now where you may secure one at your own price.

Just now M. German is auctioning off his stock with a view to closing business. He has on hand about two thousand souvenir spoons which he is seeking to get rid of as rapidly as possible. They are all silver spoons, many of them goldplated; all symbolic, all distinctively Caliplated; all symbolic, and formlan; just the thing you should send East and take home when you go. Don't leave Los Angeles without buying a few of those spoons. Go to the store and make your selection, and the auctioneer will put up what you wish. Sale begins at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. 320 South Spring was done. The Police Commission held a meeting in the morning and transacted some business.

At the Courthouse the various offices were open, but little business was done. The principal item was Judge Smith's construing of the game laws, with reference to the sale of venison during the closed season.

THE CITY HALL.

POLICE COMMISSIONERS.

Weekly Meeting of the Board-Of-

Notwithstanding the holiday season the Police Commission met yesterday morning with all members present. The Chief reported on the appropriations of L. J. Banks, No. 445 South Spring street, and of A. Putinier, No. 325 North Los Angeles street, and the same were granted.

The Chief reported on the petition of Juan Burnbaltz for a restaurant liquor license at Nos. 604 and 606 Alameda street and the same was granted. The application of J. H. Bridges for a saloon license at No. 300 North Alameda street, as laid over from list week, was considered, and on motion of Commissioner Arnold the same was granted. (This is the place formerly known as the White House saloon, the license for which was sometime ago revoked.)

Applications were received from Sam-corpus; the defendant having been arrested upon a criminal complaint, filed in the Police Court in this city, charging him with violation of the game laws of this State.

The complaint charges that, "on the 18th day of December, 1893, at and in the city of Los Angeles, State of California, the defendant did willfully and unlawfully sell to one John Doe, whose true name is unknown, etc., one pound of deer meat, which said pound of deer meat was then and there, by the said Simon Maier, cut from the carcass of an entire deer, which said deer had been theretofore brought by said Maier, from the State of Texas, in which State said deer had been lawfully killed."

The law for the preservation of game law for the preservation of game said Maier, from the State of Texas, in which State said deer had been lawfully killed."

The law for the preservation of game in this State is found under sec. 626, Penal Code, and that particular clause of said section which defendant is alleged to have violated reads as follows: "Every person in the State of California, who shall at any time sell or offer for sale the hide or meat of any deer shall be guilty of a misdemeanor."

It is claimed on the part of the defendant that the complaint charges him with no crime; that sec. 626 has reference only to deer killed within the State of California, and counselurge upon the court, with great ability such construction of our statute.

And, for a second contention it is urged with equal force that if the Legislature intended what the language of the section seems to import, then the act is unconstitutional and void as being inhibited by art. 1, sec. 8, par. 3 of the Constitution of the United States, which provides, "Congress shall have power to regulate commerce with foreign nations and among the several States, etc."

As to the first contention, that the Legislature intended the act to apply only to deer killed within our State, I think a review of the acts, the amendments thereto, of the laws for the preservation of game in this State, must lead to the inevitable conclusion that the present act was intended to convey the plain import of its language; for, so far as any ambiguity or uncertainty are concerned in the language itself there exists none; and there is no room for construction from that view. Thu, it is urged, if the language of the act leads to an absurdity, or to the violation of inalenable or constitutional rights, and such conclusions can be avoided and the act sustained, such construction, should be given. Undoubtedly this is a sound rule of construction and whether it should be linvoked in this case depends upon the question as to whether the plain reading and import of said act violates any natural or constitutional right that defendant may have.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE 1852, and has been amended, modified and changed from time to time, during the years 1854, '57, '71, '30, '83, '87, '91, and the present act was passed in 1893. An examination of these laws and amendments must be a serious and a

The United States courts have held, as in Minnesota vs. Barbour, U. S. 1313, that a State cannot pass a law restricting or interfering with the free importation of beef or healthy cattle from one State to another; that any law, under the pretext of inspecting law, under the pretext of inspecting law, under the pretext of inspecting of the section of the Constitution quoted above, and an unwarrantable interference with interstate commerce; and there are several Federal cases of like import deciding the same question. But those cases must be distinguished from the case at bar, in this: No State can prohibit the sale of healthy beef, mutton, grain and those common necessaries of life; it does not come within the police powers of the State to thus legislate. Such laws invade the first fundamental law of organized society, viz: to own and dispose of property. But all property has not the same status. Intoxicating liquors are property, but it has long since been decided by the courts that a State may prohibit their manufacture and sale under its police powers, to protect the lives and well-being of its citizens. The wild game of a State is quite different from beef, mutton, pork and surroundings that apply to the former. It never has been denied that a State has ample powers to protect and preserve its game. It comes directly within its police power. Counsel for the defendant cites the case of Bowman vs. Chicago and Northwestern Railway Company. This is the celebrated Iowa case, in which the Supreme Court of the United States held invalid an Iowa statute prohibiting the importation of intoxicating liquors into the State.

The statute forbids any common carrer, to bring into the State.

of Commissioner Arnold and same was granted. (This is the place formerly known as the White House saloon, the lecense for which was sometime as a Applications were received from Samuel H. Hinckley, No. 'Il South Spring street, for a saloon-license, and from Fox & McGinnis for a transfer of license at No. 31 North Main street, from W. J. Ray, and referred to the Commissioner Bradish moved that he be reprimanded by the Chief and fleed. The matter of the suspension of Officer O'Reagan, coming up at this time, Commissioner Bradish moved that he be given the pivilege of resigning if he be given the pivilege of the pivilege of resigning if he be given the pivilege of the pivilege of resigning if he be given the pivilege of resigning if he be given the pivilege of the Maine and Oregon noising steak acts micronstitutional and void, while Ohio, New York, Illineis and Missouri hold similar acts valid.

I believe it best for the people of this State that the law be sustained. The wild game of the State belongs to the whole people of the State. Under the common law, the game belonged to the sovereign. The game in our State does does not belong to any one individual or set of individuals, but to the sovereignty. The Legislature exercises that sovereignty in trust for us, and has a right to say what shall be or not be, as to our game. I am satisfied that any less stringent game law would expose our game, and specially our deer to destruction. The law as it stands is necessary to preserve the deer of our State from extinction. Any other less stringent law could be so easily evaded as to render it inoperative and farcical.

I am, therefore, of the opinion that the law is a reasonable exercise of the police powers of the State, and valid, and that the petitioner must be remanded, and it is so ordered.

HE Stanton Post ladies of the G. A. R. are giving hot dinners in the old court house each day for 25 cents. We hope all who can will patronize these worthy ladies. The entire net receipts goes to charity—needed charity, for ladies and children. These ladies worked liked beavers to prepare the street decorations for La Fiesta. We individually know the great amount of labor they performed. Help those who help the needy. There is a strong probability that the Indians can be induced to give their war dances next Saturday. The Fiesta committee are working to accomplish this result and we hope to get it through. Due notice will be given. The Fiesta must be a success. The committee are all hard at work and great things will come out of this. The keys of the city have been handed over to the Queen of the Angels. For three days and nights there will be a feast of merry making. The Merchants' Association has provided an entertainment of the highest order. An attempt was made by a small coterie of ward politicians to take charge of affairs and run things for their own political ambitions. If they had succeeded there would have been a large deficiency in the treasury and the entertainment would have descended to a bacchanalian fiasco. As it is public sentiment was overpowering. Everyone of these fellows will be up for some office, put up, to use political slang, "by urgent request." There is to be an election this fall. They would spoil the beauty and harmony of the colors and ruin the large benefit accruing to Los Angeles to ride into office. We hardly get rid of one set of cranks until another bobs up. The great good sense of Los Angeles and her enterprising men occasionally rise in their might and overthrow these bigots of small caliber. The respectable element of Los Angeles will in the future take a hand in public affairs. They will do the dictating. It is time for the respectable elements to take the reins into their own hands and have a hand in the government of our city. Los Angeles has already entered upon a new era of prosperity. The merchants have taken the matter in hand and inside of ten years Los Angeles will rank as the first city of importance on the Pacific Coast. We must have hotels; we must have large exhibition buildings; we must entertain visitors lavishly, yet economically. The entertainment must be of the highest order. We must improve our parks and make grand boulevards and this is the future intention of the Merchants' Association. We intend to join hands with the Chamber of Commerce and expend our advertising at home. We have expended money lavishly in the Far East, now we want to get the good of all this by larger entertainment in our own city. This builds up a city. We do not believe all the loyalty is carried in the weak minds of a small bandful of selfish office-hunters. When Decoration days, the Fourth of July and other National holidays, come around the Merchant's Association will put to shame these men who have never contributed one penny either for Fiesta banners or National flags. The city will on these days be decorated lavishly with National colors. On Fiesta days the Fiesta banners will be hung from every housetop. We do not desecrate, but respect the National colors. Thousands upon thousands of strangers are among us. All these strangers will be returning home and for years to come they will look back to the first Fiesta days with supreme pleasure. Thousands of men have been benefited. Almost every available team of any importance was pressed into service. Hotels, boarding-houses, restaurants and all avenues of trade will be largely benefited. We have seen and enjoyed the first day of the Fiesta. The coming three days will be equal in every way. The National Guards, the school parade, the decorated vehicles all will add pleasure of the grandest kind. If you need any dry goods or notions, a cloak or a cape we would like to see you. Our assortment has been prepared with this special occasion in view. The stocks are complete in every way. The Millinery Department is showing plenty of the newest and best things and at the most reasonable prices. Parasols, fans, cloaks, capes. Don't you need something of the sort. Certainly you will need a carriage parasol 75c, $1, $1.25, $1.50, $2, $2.50.

THE NATIONAL BANK OF CALIFORNIA. Report to Comptroller February 28, 1894: RESOURCES.
LIABILITIES

The National Bank of California is one of the few banks that successfully stood the shock of the late panic and maintained full coin payments right through.

The National Bank of California is one of the few banks that successfully stood the shock of the late panic and maintained full coin payments right through.

The National Bank of California is some of the few banks is better in the payments of the payments right to demand their money.

In the matter of loans it looks more to reliability than high rates of interest, and desires no loans except from good and reliable parties, and then exacts good security, believing that no bank is better or more reliable than its loans.

At 1 o'clock this morning a sixroom cottage, on Thirtleth street, near Vermont avenue, belonging to J. W. room cottage, on Thirtleth street, near Vermont avenue, belonging to J. W. Fish of Chicago, was destroyed by fire. Although the fire was outside of the city limits the Belmont-avenue chemical engine turned out, the reflection being so plainly visible from the engine-house as to deceive the firemen as to the locality of the blaze, but before they reached the scene the building was almost entirely consumed. As it had been vacant for some time, there is a strong suspicion of incendiarism attached to the blaze, but it is a difficult matter to conceive of any object for the destruction of the house.

There has been a remarkable increase.
In the price of onions. They are now quoted at 4 cents a pound. During the past week a carload of onions was imported from New York. This is an evidence of the rapid fluctuations which take place in the price of Los Angeles products. It is quite probable that we shall shortly be shipping onlons from Los Angeles proshortly be shipping onlone from Los Angeles to the East.

Oranges at Ontario.

ONTARIO, April 16.—The Ontario Fruit Exchange has sold three carloads of fancy Mediterranean sweet oranges for $2.50 per box, f.o.b. This is believed to be the highest price realized for oranges in Southern California this *year. The orange crop is moving rapidly here.

NEW YORK MARKETS. Shares and Money.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

NEW YORK, April 10.—The share speculation was rather duli today, and the movement of prices was unimportant. It was almost entirely a local traders' market, neither London or big homers buying to any great extent. The arbitrage houses, however, did buy Atchison and Denver and Rio Grande preferred in small lots. The apparent tendency of the foreign exchange market points toward hardening, and nad a depressing influence on the market, inasmuch as it relieved the talk of gold exports. Exchange is not up to the shipping point, but it is regarded as and nad a depressing influence on the market, inasmuch as it relieved the talk of gold exports. Exchange is not up to the shipping point, but it is regarded as not unlikely that the rates may advance tomorrow or Friday so as to render exportation of gold profitable. At the opening prices were generally higher than at the close yesterday, but soon took a down turn. After midday the speculation assumed a firm tone and a steady advance took place, but of small proportions, which was in progress until 145. Then came a selling movement in which the earlier improvement was lost, and a lower range of prices was established. In the final dealings purchases to cover short contracts caused a fractional rally, and the market closed slightly firmer, but at a decline from the last prices of yesterday, ranging from ½ to 2½ per cent. The rallwar and miscellaneous bond market was easier in the earlier dealings, but became easier toward the close.

bought the choicest at 85c. Other receipts include 536 boxes of rubustd, 117 sacks of onions, 128 sacks of new potatoes, 4 boxes of cucumbers, 390 sacks of peas. Prices were generally weak. There were a few strawberries in this morning, about ½ chest. Prices ranged from $1.50 to $2 per drawer. Oranges and apples meet with slow sale. Six carloads of oranges were sold at auction yesterday. Prices are steady; eggs are weak and dull; cheese is steady. There were no changes in poultry this morning; the demand was dull.

Flour—Prices were raised today. We quote net cash prices for family extras, 3.30/33.40; per bbl.; bakers' extras, 3.30/33.40; per bbl.; bakers' extras, 3.30/33.40; wheat — Business in the shipping line is, at a standstill, as local asking prices are above parity prices, with distant markets. Wheat of standard quality for export purposes is worth about 36c per cental, while for call board uses, it will bring $1.06/931.071½. This difference is the result of speculative operations, which are likely to continue brisk until the May deal is over, though considerable attention is also being given now to the December option. Milling wheat is scarce and firmly held at 1.10/91.12½ per cental.

Barley—Feed descriptions have been advancing for some days under speculative influences. The absence of rain has furnished the lever for raising quotations in the option market, and the views of holders seem to enlarge with each successive day of sunshine. On the tables feed barley is held at a range of 56c and $1 per cental. There is no brewing barley around, but buyers would have opay in proportion, say 1.02/40.166, and per haps more. cessive day of sunshine. On the tables feed barley is held at a range of 95c and $1 per cental. There is no brewing barley around, but buyers would have to pay in proportion, say 1.024@1.05, and perhaps more. A good rain before the end of this week would cause quick reaction in quotations.

Oats—This article shares in the general buoyancy now prevailing in the cereal market. Stocks are of goodly proportions, but no heavy arrivals are expected in the near future. Trade is active so far in volume so that the advantage of the situation is rather favorable to scillers, independent of other influences. We quote as follows: Milling, 1.074@1.20; surprise, 1.25@1.39; fancy feed, 1.20@1.22½; good to choice, 1.10@1.174%; poor to fair, 90@1.6; black, nominal; red, nominal; gray, 1.05@1.15 per cental.

The excitement in barley on the callboard continued today. At the opening it started at 1.11, but dropped to 1.104/. At the 11-oclock session there was a further drop to 1.074. All the meraing sales were large.

SUMMARY, SUMMARY.

Fell from a Scaffolding.

At 11:55 o'clock yesterday morning the Los Angeles Windmill of Twenty-ninth street near Central avenue, fell from a scaffolding some fifteen feet from the ground and sustained severe injuries to his back and loins. The patrol wagon was summoned to convey him to the Receiving Hospital, but at his own request he was taken to his home, No. 1975 Michigan avenue, Boyle Heights, where he was attended by his own physician.

BUTTONS TO THE FRONT AGAIN

(From Our Regular New York Fashlor Correspondent.)

Beautiful spring capes are plentiful and there is a tendency in many of them toward stole effects. In this pict ture there is seen a very pretty for a middle-aged woman, made velvet and lined with silk. It draped, as shown, with point de Venise, but a much less con black lace could be substituted, and indeed, the material of the cape itse might well be less expensive. Button are to be much worn again and wi might well be less expensive. Button are to be much worn again and will be tucked on in all sorts of places. This must please buttons after therlong retirement and seriously snubhooks. Let us hope that buttons may not be reinstated as trimming and that at least their use will be restricted to places where corresponding button-holes may, with some propriet, be used. At present a new device for tailor-gown effects is a severe pair of shoulder epaulettes, which button figorously on the top of the arm from upper edge to lower. A variation on the usual tailor-made bodice is double breasted in effect just over the buat line, fastening there by two buttons. It is cut away below to show the waistcoat and above the coat collar, revers turning back to show the shirt front and necktle. Only a woman with excellent carriage and profile line can afford to adopt this fashion. Fancy cloth, novelty plaids and large-figured goods appear in the bodice and as elaboration for the skirt. Plain goods are generally used in the skirt itself. Novelty stuffs or a high color should be chosen for the waist-coat and plain goods and the darker color for the coat or jacket. Velvet and moire combine, the former for jacket, the latter for skirt and waist-coat. In general it may be said that the woman who wants to make the most attractive wardrobe at the least figure will have all her street gowns white.

Women Friends of a Prisoner Storm Court.

(New York Commercial Advertiser March 16:) There was an unusua scene in the Queens County Court of Sessions, in Long Island City, today when Anna Wonzowlaska, 16 years old when Anna Wonzowlaska, 16 years old, was acquitted upon a criminar charge before Judge Garretson and a jury. A soon as Foreman Joseph B. Armstrom announced the cerdict of not guilty there was a great commotion in the rear of the courtroom by a lot of women friends of the girl.

The girl sat beside Lawyer J. B. Merrill, her counsel. The women rushed rill, her counsel. The women rushed into the space occupied by the lawyers in front of the Judge's bench, and throwing their arms around Merrill, hugged and kissed him, the girl also embracing him. They then rushed into the jury-box and began hugging and kissing the jurors. The jurors rushed from the box in wild confusion.

Foreman Armstrong had not received bis kiss yet and made a dash for the his kiss yet, and made a dash for the door, followed by the women. He suc ceeded in escaping into the street. The women next rushed upon Judge Gar retson to show their appreciation of th girl's acquittal, and attempted to kis him. They were prevented, however by the court officer, who forced then to leave the courtroom. During this scene the crowd of spec-tators went wild with excitement Judge Garretson had considerable diffculty in restoring order. Sun Never Sets on American Soil. Sun Never Sets on American Soil.

(St. Louis Republic:) It is the proud boast of the Briton that the sun never sets on Her Majesty's empire. Some one, of a geographical turn of mind, has said the same in respect to the United States' possessions, putting it in this way: "It is a fact known to but a few that the sun never sets on American soil. When it is 6 p.m. a Atto Island, Alaska, it is 9:36 a.m. the next day on the coast of Maine."

The almost tropical sun that broke through the mist of fog veiling the City of the Angels yesterday morning shone down upon streets resplendent with flying bunting and alive with the noise and bustle of celebration. From one end of the town to the other floated the colors of "La Fiesta," intermingling their brilliant hues with the more subdued shades of the evergreen and spreading palm leaf and transforming the principal thoroughfares into long vistas down which, almost as far as the eye could reach, the striking effect of red, green and orange formed continuous border lines until merged together in the distance.

Never before, since the days when the city was numbered among the sleepy Mexican pueblos, have its inhabitants joined so thoroughly into the spirit of the occasion and given themselves up to participation in the holiday exercises of carnival time as they did yesterday and will continue to do throughout the remaining days of the festival.

As the time had drawn nearer to ward the inauguration of the move-ment the abandon which was to characterize the flesta had become fairly contagious and when the culminating point was reached the time proved ripe for outbursts of unbridled enthusiasm. During the forenoon business was carried on in the shops and stores much the same as usual, though with more activity than is generally notice able. The crowd of visiting tourists and townspeople thronged the streets from an early hour but their numbers were nothing compared with the swarm of residents of adjacent cities and towns of Southern California taxed the carrying capacity of the passenger trains leading into the city from all points of the compass. By noon the sidewalks were jammed and still there was room for more and the more kept on coming. Nearly everyone, from the smallest tot to the dignified professional man, wore the tri-color as a badge in the form of silk-ribbon rosettes and the ruling motive throughout all seemed to be and was to make the most of the time, the place and the intent of the celebration:

When 12 o'clock had rolled around big bell up in the tower of the deserted City Hall had tolled out its three heavy strokes, the crowd on the street began to wend their way down toward Central (Sixth-street) erected and the formal opening of the programme was to take place. The reserved benches on the platforms were not nearly sufficient in number to supply those who were willing to pay surged up along the sidewalk and shade trees of the park to wait the programme to begin.

A few short weeks ago, when the Merchants' Association first agitated the project of holding a fair or carnival in Southern California there were many who looked upon the idea as unfeasible and utterly impracticable, but by united effort and not a little expense the business men of the city proved to the public yesterday that they could successfully carry out a plan, in which the amusement of the people forms a part and substance, to a degree proportionate to the Roman carnival or the firmly-established Mardi Gras of New Orleans.

Those who attended, either as spectator or participants, the exercises of yesterday were not slow in expressing their appreciation of the enterprise displayed and the hope was voiced on every side that the future of "La Flesta," as an annual event, might be in the same ratio as the energy and perseverance of its originators.

THE DAY.

Sights and Scenes About the Streets Before the Parade.

It was a cold, gray dawn that ush-ered in the first day of the flesta, for until nearly 10 o'clock the clouds of for hung low, and the air had a breath of chill in it that kept the usual early risers of the feminine sex indoors later than they would have remained had the weather been of their own making but with the sun, they too, came out to join the hosts of sightseers on the streets and help to minister to the sucjoin the hosts of sightseers on the streets and help to minister to the success of the exercises in a way that was gratifying to the committees and full of pleasure to themselves. Equipages varying in form and style from the rough country farm wagon to the elaborate private coupe, with liveried coachman, and handsomely caparisoned foreses, filled the driving room on the streets completely, before many hours had rolled by, and their occupants, whether attired in silks or homespun, entered into the common spirit of fun with a will. Gripmen, conductors and motorneers on the cable and electric roads had also caught the infection, and their cars, many of them, at least, presented as elaborate specimens of decorative art as any of the bedecked business-house fronts along the way. Altogether, the holiday air pervading the town in every nook and corner was most complete. During the time occupied by the ceremonies at the park, and the course of the procession afterward, no cars were run at all along the streets, it being almost an impossibility to make way for any sort of a conveyance along the crowded thoroughfares without danger to life and limb. No one attempted to hurry when the crush came, and if they had, their efforts would have been met with many rebuffs in the way of human blockades of the most impenetrable sort. It was a gala day for all, and this fact was not lost sight of for a moment. The a gaia day for all, and this fact was not lost sight of for a moment. The crowd that gathered at the park was the largest ever assembled for any sim-ilar event in the city, not excepting the palmy days of the boom, so aptly represented by the float in the main procession.

THE PRELIMINARIES.

Formation of the Committee and Their March to the Stand.

At noon the Fiesta Committee met at the Board of Trade rooms and formed in line preparatory to marching to the park, toward which the peo ple were already streaming. The com mittee line was headed by W. A. Burke, F. Maynard, Ben Tyler, W. H. Harrison, E. S. Blasdell, A. E. Griffin and F. W. Sabichi mounted on bicycles and the Ontario Band, members of the Board of Trade proper bringing up in the rear, be-members of the Board of Trade is proper bringing up in the rear, being preceded by a company of Threop cadets from Pasadena.

The little procession marched first to the Courthouse where the Supervisors were given a place in line. From there the march was back on Broadway to the City Hall.

At first street the procession was reinforced by Principal Musician Bradbury of the Seventh Infantry, N.G.C., and six other members of the Drum and Bugle Corps, all mounted and at the City Hall the number was increased by the addition of Mayor Rowan and members of the City Council and official boards of the city. The Mayor carried the big gilt key, which later he was to turn over to the Queen of the Angels, together with the freedom of the city.

In this form the primary parade of the day moved to the reviewing stand, which occupied a position on the west side of Hill street at Central (Sixth-street) Park.

The large crowd collected blocked Hill street in that neighborhood so full that the police had great diffi-culty in clearing a space sufficient to permit the procession of floats to pass by, but by vigorous efforts they man-aged to persuade the populace to retire toward the opposite sidewalk.

OPENING CEREMONIES

Welcome to the Queen and Review of the Long Procession.
At 12:45 o'clock the corps of mounted buglers of the N.G.C. led the procession of honorary guests from Broadway down Hill street; to the re-viewing stand. First appeared Mayor Broadway down Hill street; to the reviewing stand. First appeared Mayor Rowan and Director-General Max Meyberg, the other committeemen following in file. The company took seats at the left of the platform.

By the time the hour for the opening of the programme arrived, a shout came from the crowd massed in the vicinity of Sixth street, which told of the coming of the main procession. In a few moments the cry was taken up, and all along the line until a perfect babel of sound rent the air. Steam whistles all over the city joined in to swell the noise of welcome.

Then the band played, and as it ceased a gorgeously-attired herald came forward, with a roll of parchment in his hand, and gave forth this announcement:

Behold the Queen approaches from Dreamland's distant shores. She comes with joy and mirth in her train, to take possession of this realm, which owes her due allegiance.

Scarcely had the courier retired, when the Queen herself, in mask, attended by a train of ladies and gentlemen of the court, also in mask, emerged through the entrance at the rear of the stand, and came forward, while the band struck up the welcoming ode to the tune of "America," and the following words by the chorus:

Welcome, thou Angel Queen, Never before here seen

Welcome, thou Angel Queen, Never before here seen
To thee we sing.
Give us of love and life,
Keep us from war and strife.
Help Comus, please us all,
Help him, oh Queen!

Give us of love and life, etc. City of Angels grand, Placed on God's fairest land, Of thee we sing. Health and longevity, Bides the peace as we have often been told,

With the pannier of the Red, Green an Gold, etc.

Hardly was the music ended before the vanguard of the procession came into view, and as it passed the stand the cheers that were given with a will, in the persons of little girls, a throne seat was fixed, and surmounting this a canopy set with golden stars on a blue background was raised, bearing on the top a life-sized American eagle holding in its beak ribbons upon which were strung unnumbered roses.

"PREHISTORIC CALIFORNIA."

The prehistoric float represented a scene supposedly laid in the early days of California. A rocky eminence rose at one end, upon which cactus was growing. In his tepee an Indian chief reclined, watching the squaws at work, while a number of braves danced for amusement on the space before him. The Indians were brought from Yuma especially to take part in the procession, and they evidently enjoyed acting for the white man's benefit.

The sides of the float were decorated with designs of Indian blankets and implements, while at either end several large snakes were twined about the standards.

CABRILLO'S SHIP.

CABRILLO'S SHIP.

Cabrillo's ship formed the third float in the procession. It contained a crew of sailors who worked the sails and went through the operation of getting under way in regulation style. The ship was well painted and artistic in construction. A company of cavaliers attended it.

The OLD MISSIONS.

The float artisted "The Old Missions"

The float entitled "The Old Missions," was one of the most picturesque in the parade. The bell-tower of the San Gabriel church was reproduced with much minuteness of detail on one end while the chime of the mock-bells themselves was not unlike the mournful though harmonious sound given forth from the real belfry at early morning and evening. To complete the picture a number of cowled monks placed slowly about on the platform with devout looks and worshipful manner. The float bore the names of San Gabriel, Santa Barbara, San Luis Rey, San Miguel and San Fernando painted upon panels.

Upon the float bearing the title, "Products," were heaped fruits and flowers in profusion. Immense pumpkins and yellow oranges filled up the body of the car, and painted grape vines hung with bunches of the purple fruit, were suspended from imaginary branches of the trees.

LOS ANGELES. Next to the "Car of the Angels" the float "Los Angeles" was the most beautiful one in the long procession. Above a brilliantly-painted and flower-garlanded hull, banners with the words, music. literature, art, science, poetry and architecture, upon them, were hung, and, as a centerpiece, a large globe, with the dark continent on one side and the light one, America, on the other, was pivoted. As the float moved the globe turned on its axis, showing an airy little cherub, pointing out upon the map outlines the location of Los Angeles, with a tiny finger. The drapery, wheels and hangings were all of the "flesta" colors, alternating with the red, white and blue of the flag. The arts were represented by young ladies, who were grouped about, engaged in the occupations symbolized on the banners above them. On the very back of the float the coat-of-arms of California was very cleverly executed, and, just above it, a peacock, gorgeous in brilliant plumage, sat at the topmost point of the canopy. Next to the "Car of the Angels" the

From the icy fastnesses of old Baldy the next float took one to Santa Mon-ica, with its beach, sea water and bath-houses. Mermaids were sporting about, and in the billowy brine were several young swimmers. A ship rock-ing on the deep and trimmed with roses added not a little to the attrac-tiveness of the piece.

SIXTH DIVISION.

The Gorgeous Chinese Display—The Trade Exhibits.

The Sixth Division was headed by W. E. Dunn as marshal and aids, followed by the Los Angeles Cadet Band.

Then came the Chinese portion of the procession. The spectators who had admired what had already passed had something more than admiration for what they then saw. It seemed as if all the skill and all the art of the Orient had been turned loose so as to make the spectacle one of the most gorgeous ever witnessed. Many of the costumes in other parts of the parade were elegant but those in this section were something more, nor would a

People from every zone,
Merged here in softest tones
Of God's great world.
Welcome to small and great
Into this golden State,
Into this city gay,
Welcome today.

Chorus:

Next Mayor Rowan stepped to the front and with the now historic golden key in his hand extended the welcome and freedom of the city to the Queen of La Flesta, saying with much solemnity as he did so:

"Great and bounteous Queen: I welcome thee to the city of thy reign. May this thy sojourn among us gratify thee so that the denizens of this heaven-embraced land, may again be graced by thy joy-distributing presence. To thy rule I resign my power, and as thy first and most dutiful subject I hand to thee the golden key of the Angel City which no less power could wrest from me than that of La Reina de la Fiesta."

de la Flesta."

To which the chosen of the angels replied: "Through endless space have we journeyed to receive this, your hostage of fealty. At her angelic Majesty's we journeyed to receive this, your host-age of fealty. At her angelic Majesty's bidding, I take from you this golden key of your city's portals to the end-that you, as the city's highest repre-sentative, bow in subjection to her royal power."

that you, as the city's highest representative, bow in subjection to her royal power."

With this the royal party seated themselves near at hand and once more the herald took his stand and cried:

"In the name of the Queen, Lords, ladies, people of the realm. Let care and strife be banished. Let my good and faithful subjects, abandon all material pursuits. Let them devote themselves to the delight of my benign reign. Let myriads of the children of my kingdom appear strewing flowers in my pathway. Let Promethean fire descend dispelling the darkness of the night. Let the host of my legions tread fore me in martial splendor, bet Comus and Terpsichore have full sway, and let the voice of the multitude be raised in joyous song of gladness at my coming. Throw wide the portals of the city that none may be excluded even from the furthest verge of my domain. I now proclaim my fiesta and invoke a season of joy and merriment."

Again the band played and with a vocal chorus, this time to the melody of "Red, White and Blue," Willhartitz's second ode was rendered, the lines of which were as follows:

California the home of the happy.

The home of but thousands today;

which were as follows:
California the home of the happy,
The home of but thousands today;
On thy plains grows the beautiful poppy
In its orange and golden array.
Thy ladies for beauty are well known,
And thy men are so true and so bold
Joy and mirth by them all will be shown
When led by the Red, Green and Gold.

These were echoed by the throng fall down the street and a pandemonium of jollification and enthusiasm was created by the bolstrous demonstration on the part of the thousands congregated about.

THE PARADE.

A Series of Beautiful Allegorical Pictures.

Many Striking and Novel Effects-A Trade Display That Far Exceeded Expectations-Every Business Represented.

Heading the procession came eight bicycle outriders with wheels bedecked with colors. After them came Chief of gray horse, leading a platoon mounted officers. Police on foot preceded Grand Marshal N. A Covarrubias who was accompanied by Col. Freema G. Teed as chief of staff, together with his staff and visiting aides, as follows: James McLachlin, J. G. Estudillo, M. G. Jones, Jacob Adloff, Henry Adler, J. A. Aguierre, H. Abila, Guy Long-street, Dr. J. J. Choate, H. S. Clement, Ed R. Smith, W. O. Gilkey, Horace An-

Col. W. G. Schreiber headed the first division as marshal, then came a band, and after it the twelve heralds who attended the first float,

"THE CAR OF THE ANGELS."

"THE CAR OF THE ANGELS." The glit and tinsel of the painters' art had been lavishly bestowed to make the conveyance in which the angels rode suitable for the occupancy of these elevated beings. The side panels were outlined in gold and decorated with airy designs. On the front a painted shield was hung, and on this was inscribed the words in full, "La Flesta de Los Angeles." Where the highest of the angels såt surrounded by her court of lesser fairles, all representing different Southern California towns time and time again were almost deaf-ening.

These were echoed by the throng far down the street and a rendementium of the second division, led by Henry P. Wil-son and aides. The Orange Band furnished music for this division, and first float in it was the "Prairie Schooner," with an escort of vaqueros, in illustration of the early mode of traveling. Directly following was the float "Early Mining Days." This scenic piece was well adapted, and very natural in appearance. From the miniature cliffs at the rear a stream of real water flowed and ran down at the feet of the miners who stood around their pack burro in the center. Near by other men were at work with pick and shovel, while on the lower side a ulcture of Sutter's mill, the old Sacramento landmark, had been painted. first float in it was the been painted.

IRRIGATION. The change brought about by the use of water on the dry, but fertile soil of Southern California was typified by a float on which barren hills, peopled with Indians, were contrasted with s semi-tropical spot, luxuriant with palm floated bearing the word "Irrigation."

THIRD DIVISION.

The Days of the Boom-Solid Prosperity — Products.

By this time the second division of the parade had passed along in review, and the third came up, E. W. Maxwell as marshal, and Ontario Band behind him.

Ontario Band behind him.

The "Busted Boom" float led the list of allegorical displays in this division, and formed a feature which created not a fittle amusement, representing a dismantled boom real-estate office, with the "last man" holding down the cafe, and metaphorically drewning his sorrow in drink.

A carriage-load of well-knewn "boomers" fishing for suckers was also a striking feature.

SOLID PROSPERITY.

SOLID PROSPERITY.

"Solid Prosperity" very appropriately followed in the wake of the decilning boom, and this was represented by a charlot, with horns of plenty opening their capacious mouths on either side. In the center, lifted above the lower figures, and resting upon a stand draped with the national colors, was an enormous bag, with a dollar sign painted across its wide girth, to symbolize the wealth which it was represented as containing.

The Royal Arcanum float was hung on the sides with drapery containing emblems of the order. Near the front and rear were two pillars, between which was stretched a banner bearing the inscription, "$3000 protection for widows and orphans." There were trimmings of flowers, and on the float were three characters representing Justice, Mercy and Charity.

The Knights of the Maccabee's float showed a large badge of the order. This badge represents the world. On the float the world was to be seen resting on a bank of clouds. Beside the large badge sat a widow with her two children and nearby stood a man representing the order with his sword uplifted over her. There was a fine display of flowers.

uplifted over her. There was a fine display of flowers.
Then came the Independent Order of Foresters float with mounted escort in charge of High Chief Ranger G. A. McElfresh. Like some of the other secret society floats this one contained a large badge of the order tastefully trimmed with flesta colors. All this was mounted on a pyramid of steps marked "Liberty, Benevolence and Concord." The side drapery bore a finely executed banner.

FIFTH DIVISION.

The Display from Out-of-town Places-At Sheriff John C. Cline, with his mounted vaqueros, headed the fifth division, and then came the Ninety-vision, and then came the Ninetyfourth Illinois Regiment Band and Musso Bros. Band.

Following was the San Diego flost.
The city on the bay was well represented in the picture shown. The decorations were beautiful. On the one hand was the sea, and by it was a railway with a train of cars coming and going. The float was much admired,

Heading the Chinese section of the procession were six fiag-bearers and three men carrying banners. Then came a smaller car borne on the shoulders of the Chinamen as is a palanquin. The car contained several images and also one or two gongs which were pounded vigorously.

Following were two men carrying censers of burning incense and then were forty men marching in double file and carrying peculiarly-shaped spears. The men were not all costumed uniformly, yet the colors of their apparel blended very harmoniously.

Two Chinese children with highly painted cheeks and in gorgeous attire came next mounted on horses and behind them was a decorated carriage filled with musicians. The music, even from an American standpoint, was much better than the Chinese music usually heard.

usually heard.

Next came twelve mounted men richly costumed. These were followed by the bearers of two finely-executed floral banners, one of which was marked, "The Six Kingdoms," and the other "Peace."

the other "Peace."

Then came the most gorgous feature of all. A large float with a canopy top in flesta colors and handsomely trimmed with flesta bunting, was peopled with six kings who reigned some 2000 years ago. The kings, together in flesta colors and handsomely trimmed with fiesta bunting, was peopled with six kings who reigned some 2000 years ago. The kings, together with their secretaries and attendants, sat on carved Chinese chairs, attired in all the regal splendor that oriental art could devise. To be sure the kings looked like the actors who are seen on the local Chinese stage, but they looked none the less grand for all that. Following was another decorated carriage of musicians including a Chinese bugler, who kept the welkin more or less filled with Mongolian music.

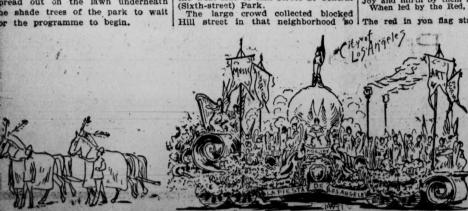

Next were six flag-bearers and then four Chinese youngsters in a decorated carriage. A dozen or more Chinese merchants in conical straw hats completed that part of the procession.

Advertising floats followed. The Los Angeles Business-college float had some three or four business offices on it with their staffs, including three young lady typewriters, who were helping do business at the rate of $3,000,000 in bank clearings per day. The same institution also had a tally-he load of young men in the procession.

The plumbing float of Stephens & Myer presented a large display and was a very creditable one.

The float of the Chamber of Commerce showed at its front the ocean and several ships. At the water's edge was a tall lighthouse and near it was a what, while not far away were rocky bluffs. At a short distance from the sea was the Tehachepi pass and a train of cars emerging therefrom.

Further to the rear of the float were piled cases of goods marked for the Chamber of Commerce and bearing such labels as "The Nicaragua Canal," "The Permanent Exhibit," "A Million Pieces of Printed Matter," "The Land

"Beet Sugar Manufactory," "California on Wheels," "The Midwinter Fair," "Entertainment of Distinguished Guests." The float bore two characters, representing the god of the sea and the god of commerce. There was a considerable display of the products of California soil.

Meyberg Bros. (Crystal Palace) float was beautiful both in design and execution, and received numerous cheers. The Afro-American float was a handsome piece, and contained three of four appropriate banners, such as "United We Stand, Divided We Fall. Following came Bob Kern's Richelieu float, a handsome and elaborate People's store float, a Kingsley & Barnes advertising carriage, Uncle Tom's Cabin (Buybank Theater) float, a really artistic creation, and a large float representing the Los Angeles Stoneware bles and other edibles.

Next came the float advertising the Admiral cigarettes, the California Winery float, an advertisement of Desmond, the hatter, of L. G. Waters, the grocer, the Los Angeles Box Company, and the J. C. Cook wool-pulling works.

The Alhambra Shoe Company's float was a large one, and showed quite well the process of shoe manufacturing. This was followed by a carriage advertising the Mammoth Shoe Store, and then came citizens in carriages, which completed the procession.

From the center of one especially handsome pagoda a large bell of smilax, fairly ablaze with fairy electric lights, is suspended.

The patriotic spirit is also strongly demonstrated and Old Glory is given a prominent place in the decorations. The one thing witnessed yesterday which was calculated to dampen one's ardor and throw a gloom over the otherwise cloudless sky was a counterfeit presentment of the only Grover,

The fiesta button, which has reigned supreme for the last week, is a portion or parcel of the past, as far as popular favor is concerned. In its place rosettes and ribbon badges in every conceivable style are worn. The Beau Brummels of the city are wearing boutonnieres of ped, yellow and green, and violets, the erstwhile favorites, are left neglected in the florist's window.

The women showed much enthusiasm, and also a great profusion of fiesta colors. Some wore waists, others hats, and many more, like the wooden Indian, appeared with empire bows of these hues. In all cases, however, the effect was decidedly more startling than artistic.

The denizens of the neighboring "Lonelyvilles" were out in full force, and proceeded to decorate themelves with various badges. One enterprising mother adorned the head of her first-born (aged about 6 weeks,) with a fiesta hood. She marched with an air of triumph down Spring street, casting pitying glances on the other mothers with their undesorated offspring. But pride goeth before a fall. As she neared

Second street an obnoxious small boy took in the situation, and with characteristic candor, howled after her, "Oh, git on to der jay! She catch-a de monk-a to mak-a de mon-a!"

The colored brother was also very prominent and many were the jokes at his expense. The gay carnival colors because his brunette style of beauty in a marked degree.

As is usual in celebrations of this kind, some of the street cars were elaborately decorated, many resembling a moving arbor of fruit and flowers. Prizes were offered for the best designs and much ingenuity was displayed in the various designs. The awards will not, however, be made for Nearly every merchant made an attempt to have some original feature characteristic of his wares in the decorations. In front of a chemist's where cooling drinks are served, two blocks of ice were displayed. By some process they were colored red, green and yellow, and attracted much attention.

In the large show-windows of a dry goods house the space was divided into three parts, each being in one of the flesta colors. Stands of oranges, jars of olives, raisins and wine helped to typify the window.

The paper stars were in touch with the day and guided many a thirsty sight-seer through the portals of the saloons where they were regaled with that soothing concoction, the flesta cocktail. The stars were not, however, the only things that showed the masculine element the way, instinct working in many instances. Stretched overhead along Spring street are numerous incandescent electric lights of red, green and yellow, They were lighted last night and produced a most pleasing effect.

One of the noveltles of the day was three chewing-gum girls. This fin de siecle class of "salesladies" has come into prominence through the Midwinter Fair, where they coax the lurking into prominence through the Midwinter Fair, where they coax the lurking nickel from the pockets of visitors. The girls wore blue uniforms, the most noticeable feature being short accordeon-pleated skirts and visor caps. Another evil who was abroad in the land yesterday, and, in fact, will be so for the rest of the week, was the "hawker" of official fiesta programmes. In stentorian tones he announced that the dally papers were unreliable, and that from him alone could be obtained the only authentic account of what had been done, what was being done, and what would be done during flesta week.

The parade by electric light tonight will be one of the most attractive features of flesta week. Maskers will be abroad and the procession under the vari-colored glare of incandescent lamps will shine at its best.

There was just one defect in the whole arrangement of the affair and that was the failure of the printing of the official programme was awarded to prepare an attractive and artistic booklet which would be carried away, by the visitors as a souvenir. The programme furnished was of a very low order in point of art, some of the engravings being badly blurred and almost indistinguishable.

The airily-attired and pretty young ladies occupying the floats had many prototypes on the streets in the way of angels without wings whose number was legion among the spectators.

Outside the regular procession, considerable abtention was attracted to a man on a bicycle with his child. Diver the wheel had been placed a camopy top of sufficient size to shade the rider very completely. The awning was of fiesta colors, and the wheel was otherwise decorated with them.

The colored incandescent electric fights on Spring street presented a very fine appearance last evening.

One of the vaquero aids in the division headed by Sheriff John C. Cline, in yesterday's parade, was so unfortunate as to have his horse fall with him. He got up immediately, however, and did not appear to be hurt.

Considerable amusement on the side was caused yesterday when the parade was on North Main street. One of the front horses of a four-horse team attached to a float got thred of the job, and tried to resign. The animal lifted its hind heels with great violence against the whiffletrees, but the whiffletrees did not give way, and so the horse started to do some more pulling.

the horse started to do some more pulling.

It is expected the ticket agents will have a rousing reception on their arrival here today. A large number of citizens will meet at the Concordia Club at 8 o'clook this morning and don fantastic costumes, such as were worn last Saturday. From the Concordia Club they will proceed in a body to the Arcade Depot, where they will be on hand on the arrival of the men who sell tickets. They will give the ticket men a warm greeting.

The real-estate boys were a prominent feature, and attracted great attention. Messrs. Ward, Kelsey, Monroe, Lindley, Unruh, Sumner. Pirtle, and others, each held a golden pole with a silver line, to which was attached a snap, and they fished for suckers with all their might and main.

Col. Byrne says he has seen festival processions all over the United States and Europe, but never saw anything that would surpass the procession of yesterday. The celestials made a most priniant showing. They have expended already close to $1000 in preparing for their part of the festival, and they turned out in their most brilliant colors of silk and satin, and had a float that, for artistic decoration was not surpassed by any in the parade.

Their lady friends came to their aid, and under the direction of Superintendent Fowler the work went merrily on and the result is exceedingly beautiful. The company offers two prizes for the best decorated trains. A committee of ladies who patronize this road will award the prizes.

San Diego promised to send several floats to the flesta; then some people down there kicked against it, but Mayor Carlson said he had given his word to the committee that something should be forthcoming if he had to build it at his own expense. He did build it with his own money and it was in the parade. It was a very attractive and was highly complimented.

THE NAVAJO EVANGELISTS. Krupp Gun That Prevented an Indian

The Navajo Indians occupy a spa-cious reservation in New Mexico and Arizona, and number about 25,000 per-Argzona, and numbers and herds and horses, and very proficient in certain simple manufactures. This fortunate simple manufactures. This fortunate and powerful tribe has always been far isolated from white settlements, upon a domain not coveted by the frentiersmen, and therefore it has escaped the persecutions which a Christian nation has lavished upon the Utes, the Cheyennes, and mariy other Indian tribes. It may furthermore be said that the unusual numerical strength of the Navajos, their high velor and their effective organization have combined to rective organization have combined to make them an object of respect in the eyes of the boomer, the sooner, and the cowboy. This is no race of gentle and semi-civilized Pueblos, nor yet of dirty and discouraged Arapahoes, but a fine breed of mountain men, almost uncontaminated with the vices of civilization.

The mossic-workers of Italy, the lacemakers of the low countries, the linen-weavers of the Irish village failed to interest the dusky visitors, since these wares had nothing in common with their daily wants. More attention was paid to the displays of blankets, since the great woolen blankets made by the Navajos have for centuries been eagerly sought throughout the Southwest. They also studied the articles fabricated from silver, mindful of the fact that their tribe contains many experts and ingenious silversmiths.

But their chiefest interest was manifested in the department of military weapons, and especially in the STUPENDOUS CANNON.

These articles, indeed, they could form some idea of, and their respect was unbounded. They found unending sources of wonderment in the Krupp gun, and also in Long Tom, the famous 58-ton steel rifle, with its length of 33½ feet, made at Watervilet, for the defense of New York Harbor.

Back the wondering braves were borne to their native realm, the Valley of the Rio San Juan, the canyons of the Chelly, the deep shadows of the Sierra Carrizo, the stupendous gorge of the Colorado River, and ever since they have been regaling their fellow-villagers and clansmen with stories of the great exposition, until the tribe has gained new and salutary notions of the Great Father. Now and then one is received with incredulity, like old lago, when

The Navajos have very valid causes of complaint against the United States, in respect to leaving their frontiers unguarded, with holding pledged Congressional grants, and defaulting on needed and promised improvements. And the medicine-men ("ruled by the devil," as Cotton Mather used to say of our Massachusetts predecessors) are not unwilling to stir up the warriors to sedition with these just causes. Not long since a venerable chief found one of these SNAKE-EEHUNG SCARECROWS.

"It consumes barre's of powder for a single charge, and its shot is not. Eke ours, the size of a Mexican ounce, but is a mountain of steel as high as the tallest Navajobrave. The discharge shakes the earth for miles; the falling shot plows up a canyon, and can fly from Fort Defiance to the Rio Puerco." The ruddy audience grunted their admiration of this weapon of their paie-faced brethren, and the revolutionary priest found it best to withdraw in haste.

Hundreds of out-of-the-way, episodes like the savages' study of heavy artiflery occurred at the fair, and have a wonderful picturesqueness of detail. This fact, with the wonderful-literary and artistic skill of Directors Burnham and Millet, the joint-authors, gives the entire story that rare romantic and piquant tone, which makes such good reading. It must, therefore, be understood that the "Book of the Builders" stands as far ahead of all other works on similar subjects as the fair itself lined up ahead of all preceding county fairs, cattle shows! ELECTROLYSIS.

urplus Current of Trolley Systems Sald to Threaten das and Water Pipes.

(Boston Advertiser:) A new danger is said to be threatening Boston, Philadelphia, and, indeed, all other cities where the trolley is used. This danger is found in what is known by the appalling name of electrolysis. Briefly explained, it is said that the underground electric wires which supply the "julce" to the trolleys are 35. Deavily charged with electricity that more or less of the fluid escapes into the surrounding earth. Once free the electricity is said to attack violently the gase and water systems, causing a disintegration and final destruction of the pipes.

gas and water systems, cause a tegration and final destruction of the pipes.

City Engineer Jackson says in regard to this: "There is something in it, but the evil, has not reached such proportions as are reported elsewhere. Electrolysis is something which we have been watching and studying for the last year or two. Thus far there has been absolutely no appearance of the trouble in connection with the cast-iron pipes in the streets. The small lead service pipes have been attacked by the electrolysis to some extent, but the evil has by no means been extensive. I may say that it has not been anywhere near so extensive as we anticipated when the trolley system was introduced. We have about sixty or seventy thousand services, and taking this number into consideration, it is only occasionally that a complaint comes of a defective pipe, and a renewal is necessary. We are studying the subject closely, with a view of discovering some means of averting the trouble."

PASADENA.

The Town Deserted in Favor of the Fiesta.

Heavy Railroad Travel-Water Impurities leeting to Discuss School Questions-New Buildings-Personals and PASADENA, April 10.-(Special Correpondence.) Pasadena was pretty well deserted on Tuesday, a large proportion of the populace going to Los Angeles to take in the opening day of the fiesta.

All of the morning and early afternoon trains on the Terminal and Santa Fe All of the morning and early afternoon trains on the Terminal and Santa Fe were crowded, but the people they carried were not a circumstance to the number of folks who wanted to get home about the same hour late in the afternoon. The Santa Fe made two sections of six cars each of its 4 o'clock train out of Los Angeles. At the same hour the Terminal started off a section of three cars for Pasadena, and ten minutes later a second section of six cars and drawn by two of the little locsomotives left the First-street station. Every car was crowded, mostly with Pasadenians. At Highland Park the second section caught up with the first section, which had stalled, and from that point up to Pasadena it was a case of push and pull, with nine cars and three locomotives rather indiscriminately mixed up, and seven or eight hundred passengers enjoying the fun. The trip occupied more than an hour, but nobody was heard to complain, for it was fiesta week. It is expected that travel will be even heavier during the remaining days of the flesta, and the railroad officials will use every effort to accommodate the rush. PRACTICAL SUGGERSTIONS IN ORDER.

Some complaint has been heard recently supstance, resembling dark-green moss of a fine texture in the water, which the local companies supply their patrons. The Times reporter on Tuesday discussed the matter with members of the board of directors of both the Bast and West Side companies, and was informed that the trouble, which crops out on an average of once a year, has been of long standing, and that so far no practical way to remedy it has been discovered. The moss forms on the sides of the reservoirs at captain sasons of the year and gets into the plues, notwithstanding the fact that the reservoirs are frequently cleaned. Those acquainted with the fact of the case know that every possible precaution is taken, both at the main source of supply at Devil's Gate and at the several reservoirs, to keep the water pure and free from foreign substances of every description. The water companies are especially anxious to find a remedy for the trouble complained of, and if any person will come forward with some practical suggestions on the subject, they will be promptly acted upon. Meanwhile it will be well to filter and boil the water uses heat and some forward with some practical suggestions.

it will be well to filter and boll the water used for domestic purposes.

ROOM IN BUSINESS BLOCKS.

Work has been begun excavating for the cellar of the new Vandevort Block on South Raymond avenue. Next month will witness the removal of Vore's livery stable from the corner of Raymond avenue and Colorado street, where L. P. Hansen, J. S. Törrance and M. E. Wood will erect another costly building, the principal portion of the lower floor of which will be occupied by the Pasadena National Bank now located in the Carlton Block. Both of these buildings will be of modern design and equipped with all of the latest improvements and conveniences, and it is simply stating facts to say eager tenants are now waiting for practically every from in both buildings. All that is needed to complete a full-fiedged boom on Raymond avenue is the paving of the thoroughfare from Colorado south to Vineyard street. SCHOOL MATTERS.

The Board of School Trustees, composed of Messrs. Hartwell, Masters and Boynton, have issued notices calling a public meeting of the electors of the Pasadena district for Saturday afternoon, April 21, at 2 o'clock, to pass upon the following cuestions:

CONCERT AT THE PAINTER. There was a satisfactory attendance at the concert given Monday evening at the Painter Hotel for the benefit of the North Congregational Church. The vocal part of the programme included solos and duets by O. W. Kyle, Mrs. W. B. Clappand Mrs. B. O. Kendall. Miss Norton and Mr. Jackson delighted all by their work on the phano and mandolin, and these performers, together with Miss Meeker on the organ, rendered a trio that was one of the features of the evening. Master Ray, aged 10, proved himself to be an adept on the violin.

POMONA.

The Warmest Day of the Season—Hornbeck's Condition.

POMONA, April B.—(Special Correspondence.) This was decidedly the warmest day of the season so far, and should it thus continue for any length of time, the necessity for irrigation will perceptibly increase, which has already commenced some six weeks earlier this than last year, in fact many of the ranchers have been irrigating for six weeks past; and it is now noticeable that the garden and yard hose has been called into requisition pretty generally throughout this vicinity, while the sprinkling carts have been in use for several weeks.

The unfortunate wheelman, James Hornbeck, who was so seriously and peculiarly injured by a back-distinuum on Sunday morning, in order to escape running into an obstruction, had a nervous chill this forenoon, and upon the whole from last reports, is in a very critical condition.

The Pomona float passed from under the finishing touches of the hands of its originator, C. H. Marshall, this morning, and under the personal supervision of J. H. Todd left for Los Angeles being drawn overland; and upon its arrival at proint of destination, will be assigned its proper place in the procession, Tuesday, where all Pomonans think; it will reflect credit, not only upon the section it represents, and the resources and people who dwell therein, but also upon those who, conceived and executed the design.

The attendance from Pomona will undoubtedly be creditable each day of the firsta, but perhaps more particularly so on Tuesday the first day of the carnival. Interest in the Approaching High School Election.

Decision in the Hydrocyanic Fumigating Process-General News Notes

SANTA ANA, April 10.—(Special Correspondence.) There is perhaps no other question that is interesting the friends of education in Santa Ana more just now than the question of the maintenance of the Santa Ana High School. As explained a few days ago, by an act of the late Legislature, it becomes necessary to submit the question of the maintenance of the school to a vote of the people before the school becomes a legal tenance of the school to a vote of the people before the school becomes a legal institution, and can be recognized by the laws of the State of California. To place this institution of learning upon such a basis the Board of Education has called a special election fo be held next Saturday, at which time it becomes the duty of every intelligent and progressive resident of the city to cast a vote for the maintenance of this spiendid institution.

for the maintenance of this splendid institution.

This appeal, under ordinary circumstances, would seem unnecessary, but since it has become known that a number of the less progressive residents of the city who think that an institution of learning is an expensive luxury and can be dispensed with without injury to the city and community, are quietly doing all in their power to defeat the proposition, it becomes necessary to warn the people of their impending danger, and to urge them to improve the opportunity that they have to vote for progress and education.

they have to vote for progress and education.

There will be but one polling place and that will be at the City Hall on East Fourth street. The polls will be open at the usual time.

If the parents of the school children and friends of education generally do not take the trouble to work and wote for this little, temple of knowledge to remain a monument to the progress of education in the city of Santa Ana, the chronic croakers and indifferent residents will most surely be the cause of its removal. Rest assured those who are opposed to the proposition will be out in full force to, yote against it.

ORANGE GROWERS JUBILANT.

ORANGE GROWERS JUBILANT. One principal topic of conversation of streets in Santa Ana today, amon the streets in Santa Ana today, among the orange growers, especially, was the decision of Judge Roes of Los Angeles in knocking out what is known among the fruit men as the "Twilight, fumigating process," a process of dumigating plants and trees with hydrocyanie-gas in the absence of light. Messrs, Wall Jones and Beshop of Tustin, this county, are the patentees of the process, therefore the fruit men of this valley take more of an interest in the opinion just rendered than they perhaps otherwise would. The fruit men have been fighting the patent for the past several years, creating a fund from the various Jocal fruit associations, throughout the county for that purpose.

Election Aftermath—All for La Flesta—Local News Notes.
SANTA MONICA, April 10.—(Special Correspondence.) The election on Mon-day lasted so far into the night that the city fathers themselves forgot their eunning, and the minutes of the regular meeting contained the record of but the single motion, "that we do now adjourn." Adopted unanimously.

In view of the one-sided result of the municipal election, it is a little difficult to see how so much interest was infused into the campaign. The official count showed really only one close contest, that between George Boehme and Dr. Place for Treasurer. Yet the candidates made a close canvass of the town, and got out the phenomenally large vote of 511, being over a hundred votes more than were ever before cast. Notwithstanding the practical unanimity with which nearly all the successful candidates were elected, they felt well over the results, as usual, and their friends felt well, too. The latter made the welkin ring for some hours after the count was completed, and by Tuesday morning the excitement incident to the contest had abated and everything had resumed its normal condition.

ment incident to the contest had abated and everything had resumed its normal condition.

Santa Monica emptied itself into Los Angeles Tuesday. The Southern Pacific's noon train ran overflowing to the city, and almost passengeriess out. Final conclusions touching transportation rates to La Flesta are not entirely satisfactory. The Santa Fe, with a theater train in the evening, announces a 50-cent rate for Friday only, while for all the balance of the festival both roads make a 75-cent round-trip rate only, which saves a nickel and no more over the current rate other than Saturday and Sunday. The Southern Pacific will run three theater trains, beginning Wednesday evening. Despite the rates there will be a liberal attendance from Santa Monica to the festival, though the half-fare ticket would have been much more popular than that adopted.

RIVERSIDE COUNTY.

But Little Interest in the City Election—General News.

RIVERSIDE, April 9.—(Special Correspondence.) The regular city election is in progress here today. From the fact that there is but one ticket in the field in progress here today. From the fact that there is but one ticket in the field for all offices except one—Treasurer—there is but little excitement. At 3 p.m. less than one-third of a full vote had been polled, and it is not expected that more than a half vote will be polled. Some weeks ago a Southern Pacific train ran over and killed a colored man of this city, named Jordan, when the latter was attempting to cross the company's track near Rialto. The incident has been revived by a report that the family of Jordan will shortly begin suit for damages against the company. Quite a number of Riversiders have arranged to go to Los Angeles tomorrow to witness the celebration, and delegations will go down each day of the celebration. Today twelve Indians, belonging to the Couhlla reservation passed through this city en route to take part in the parade. Some days ago J. W. Nance of Perris began suit to restrain the collector of the Perris Irrigation District for selling cer tain property in the district belonging to Nance to Satisfy a claim for district taxes. The case was-called in the Superior Court; and the attorney for Nance asked a continuance, which was granted into the surface with obtaining money by false pretenses, in representing himself to be an agent for the Pacific Talloring Company of Los Angeles, will be disposed of n the Police Court this evening. Dabney claims he had no notice from the company that he had been dismissed from their service, which claim seems justified by the facts in the case as now known.

REDLAINDS, April 10.—(Special Correspondence.) The topic of conversation in Redlands today was the result of yesterday's city election. Both sides did a good deal of election and the seginning when the polls opened it sunrise in the morning and continuing until the polls closed at 5 o'clock in the evening. During the day the high license leaders issued a special circular appealing to their contingent to stand by the license ticket, and a desperate effort was made by them to carry the election. On the other hand the Prohibitionists had men quietly at work, and were determined to leave no stone unturned which would result for the good of the cause they represented. It was about 8 o'clock in the evening, when the casting up time was through with and the final result of the election was made public. The following are the names of the officers elected: Trustees, W. D. Clark, R. E. McGinniss, R. H. Garland, four years; William Fowler, two xears; Clerk, L. W. Clark; Treasurer, F. P. Morrison; Marshal, R. H. Kendal; Libgary Trustees, A. H. Smilley, F. P. Meserve, A. B. Ruggles, E. G. Judson, J. B. Breed.

The Board of Trustees when organized will stand thus; J. B. Glovar (who held over), Clark and Fowler, against license; McGinniss and Garland, for license, This shows that the saloon's days in Redlands are numbered. It will also, in all probability, mean the election of a new City Attorney, who will be in sympathy with the prohibition cause. the Trustees, who have been elected to office find that they have got into any soft snap, which undoubtedly they are well aware of. In the past, men who have guided the city spirit and keep Redlands still in the van of all enterprising California towns, will necessitate self-sacrifice in no small degree on the part of every incumbent, who has been honored at the hands of the electors of this city.

District Attorney-Anderson of Riverside was here in consultation with District Attorney Oster and it was suggested that they investigate the case jointly and if satisfied nothing could be made out of it, drop it, but they declined to assume and such responsibility. It is not known whether Martin will be arrested before the return, of the County Surveyor and Coroner or not.

ANY INTERPESTING EXHIBIT.

AN INTERESTING EXHIBIT.
County Superintendent Beattle is adding to the educational exhibit of San Bernardino county at the Midwinter Fair from time to time, and the latest addition is a very fine display of geography work prepared under the supervision of Miss E. E. Ogden, who has charge of that section of work in the San Bernardino grammar school.

This work is intended in a general way to illustrate the work to be followed in the school-pooms, which embraces the study of the countries' inhabitants, religions, plants and annuals of the world, Another interesting feature of the exhibit is a cement model of San Bernardino Valley by the principal, Robert York. AN INTERESTING EXHIBIT.

REDLANDS, April 10.—(Special Correspondence.) The topic of conversation in Rediands today was the result of yesspendencia.) There was dively interest taken in the muncipal election yesterday, and a very full vote was cast. The registration of the city was 261 and out of this number 246 votes were cast. It resulted as follows: For City Trustees, Milo Gilbert, 188; S. M. Goddard, 166; E. A. Pettijohn, 173; Dan Swartz, 295; John Terry, 59; scattering, 3. For City Clerk: Dan Johnson, 177; Robert Maxwell, 9; George H. Wilson, 55. For City Treasurer: G., E. Slaughter, 166; F. M. Hubbard, 73. For City Marshal; John W. McCaulley, 120; G. W. French, 119. M. A. Murphy is the hold-over member. There was no political issue in the election but the board consists of three Republicans and two Democrats. The election of this board is taken as an indication of strength on the twater question, and taking the vote of Dan Swartz, who is an altra advocate of city ownership, it indicates that the bond proposition will be easily carried.

The stockholders of the Colton Water Company held a meeting yesterday to consider thee ontract made by the directors with the City Trustees for a sale of twater supply to the city for $40,600. There was represented at the meeting 1480 out of 2200 shares of the corporation, and all the stock voted was for the ratification of the contract. This action, together with the election of City Trustees favorable to the water project, indicates that the scheme will in all probability be carried through.

Max Werner, Esq., the well-known German capitalist of this city, departs for Europe, leaving this morning, via New Orleans, for New York, where he takes a steamer for a protracted tour through Germany. In testimony of the high esteem in which he is held by his friends here, many prominent business and professional gentlemen met him around the festal board at the Vienna Buffet rooms, Monday noon, and a right royal time was had in giving him a proper "send-off."

You can Economize

By using Royal Baking Powder to the exclusion of all other leavening agents. The official analysts report it to be 27% greater in leavening strength than the other powders. It has three times the leavening strength of many of the cheap alum powders.

It never fails to make good bread, biscuit and cake, so that there is no flour, eggs or butter spoiled and wasted in heavy, sour and uneatable food.

Do dealers attempt, because times are dull, to work off old stock, or low grade brands of baking powder? Decline to buy them. During these times all desire to be economical, and

* BRILLIANT SCENES.

The Angels Making a Great Show of Them

Those who gather to witness the bril Those who gather to witness the brillant scenes enacted in Los Angeles dur-ing the fiesta and marvel at the growth and advancement of our city, with its miles of handsome business and residence streets, should remember that cities grow rom without, not from within, and the bundation for a large share of our prosserity is to be found in the rich and pro luctive country tributary to the Ange City. Remembering this they will wish to see it, and in no way can this be better ecomplished than by taking a trip around he Kite-shaped track of the Southern California Railway, over which there are two trains that make the complete cir-cuit without change of cars, passing Pasdena, Monrovia, Pomona, Ontario, San Bernardino, Regiands, Highland, Riverside, Orange, Anaheim, Revira and many other picturesque villages and towns.

The magnificent mountain scenery along this line and the luxuriant tropical vegetation, associated with a lovely land-scape of minor effects, is calculated to charm and delight every beholder. The trip can be made in a single day. Leav-ing Los Angeles at 9:00 a.m. the tourist can make the entire circuit of 165 miles, passing through each town but once, save aly San Bernardino, and reach Los An-Seles at 3.55 p.m., or if a later time is preferred he can make the trip in the opposite direction reaving Los Angeles at 1,00 a.m. and arriving back at 6.30 p.m. Let every citizen see to it that all strangers are urged to make the tour of the Kite-shaped track. In no other way can Kite-shaped track. In no other way can the advantages and resources of Southern California be brought to the attention of visitors in so forcible and attractive a menner. The fare for the round trip is only $3.65. E. W. McGee, city passenger and ticket agent, at No. 129 North spring street, or La Grande Station will supply every purchaser with beautiful il-ustrated souvenirs.

Our Drapery Department is a new one, under the supervision of the most artistic Draper in Southern California. Our establishment is the largest in point of size, the greatest in variety and the safest place to trade. One price and spot cash.

Dress Goods.

Dress Goods.

This is the leading department of the house, and we are willing to be judged by the values, it shows as to what we can do for you in every department. Every train and express brings us novelties. Of the latest productions in dress fabrics that keep our counters full and enable us to show the dressiest things that the inventive genius of the modern weaver can produce.

95c.—For tomorrow. New Shorehan suitings, 44-inch wide, never displayed before; silk and wool checks, pin-head, stripes, desirable combinations, 44-inch wide, and a texture that will make up one of the nobblest suits concelvable.

75c.—Javanese Challies. A handsome fabric with a silk stripe and magnificent printings. This quality is very reasonable at $1 a yard.

50c.—Brillianteen Challies. Printed in beautiful colors upon a light ground brillianteen, similar to mohair; entirely new this season.

75c.—Striped Veloures, 44-inch wide, novelties this season, and a quality of dress materials that is worth $1.25 a yard.

a yard.

—Silk and wool pin-head stripes, imported fabrics, the like of which you will see quoted elsewhere at $1.

-40-inch Bastistes and Nuns-veiling. A superior quality of imported novelties in street and evening shades that has never been sold under 75 cents.

under 75 cents.

These are 38-inch silk and wool novelty dress goods. New this senson. A quality of goods we purchased to sell at 75 cents, but found son. A quality of goods we purchased to sell at 75 cents, but found an inferior quality offered at 50 cents in a similar design, and marked ours down to 45 cents.

This is a line of imported French Diagonal cloth, the value of which we are safe in placing at 85 cents a yard. It costs 65 cents to import any foreign material that is worth placing on the counters.

and $1.—We will show you the handsomest line of black novelties at 75 cents that you have ever seen sold at $1. At $1 we will show you our own importations, exclusive styles in black and gray second mourning dress goods. These are novelties, and to quote a very low figure we would say they are specially reasonable at $1.25, ... We are showing a new line of wash silks in handsome small figures; 30-inch wide, that are underprice at our quotations. Novelties in silks and moire, black and colors, in fancy and different weaves which are being received daily and at agtonishingly low prices for the quality.

Millinery.

Millinery.

The best evidence of our popularity is the crowded condition of our parlors from early morn until closing time. We have been obliged to work nights this season to keep pace with our orders—something that has never occurred before in the history of our business. Artistic millinery at reasonable prices is the sole reason of our success. This house is popular by reason of its prices, and we have emphasized this more this season in this department than at any time since we have been in business. Our facilities are greater: our stock is larger; our artists superior, and our prices lower than any millinery establishment in Los Angeles.

Wash Fabrics.

Wash Fabrics.

Selling Callco, Muslin, Sheeting and staple domestics at mill prices. Our line of wash fabrics and printed goods from 81-3 cents up to 50 cents a yard is the largest and most varied in Southern California for price and quality. The crowds that are constantly in front of these counters evidence to you that this is the proper place to purchase.

We open tomorrow three cases of printed wash fabrics at 12¼ and 15c that will astonish you both in point of price and quality, as well as beauty of design.

LA MAZENO KID GLOVES, $1.50. Parasols.

Draperies.

We have on sale tomorrow four different lines of Lace Curtains at $1.50, $1.75, $2 and $2.50. We will simply add that they are the greatest bargains we have ever shown in our drapery department. We do this simply to introduce you to our new departure. We are carrying a more extended line, and with the arrival of our new goods we will show the handsomest creations of drapery art. Will then be in position to accept contracts for the draping of houses complete. of houses complete.

Linings.

We carry a very large and assorted stock of Linings in grades from 5c to 50c a yard for cotton goods. For price, the quality we know is less than can be purchased elsewhere. If you are not in the habit of buying your Linings from us, we should be pleased to have you look through the stock. Note the price and quality.

Shoes.

The time is past when it is necessary for us to tell you that we are leaders in the shoe business of the town. Wright & Peters, Foster & Co. and the other makers of Ladies' Shoes; Dugan & Hudson, J. & T. Cousins and others are the leaders of Children's Shoes; Edwin Clapp, J. S. Turner and Lilly Brackett head the list in Men's Shoes. With this array for fit, style and beauty, and our popular prices, we leave the rest to you. As an additional incentive to trade, we have at all times a particularly large assortment of broken lines of Men's, Ladies' and Children's Shoes and remnants of the Hewes stock that we are anxious to sell and dispose of at even less than 650 on the dollar of what we paid for them. We are carrying too many Men's Shoes, and will make it an object in price to have you come and relieve us of the surplus.

Glove; the manufacturer is expending over $500 a month alone for advertising in this State, which is the best proof of its merits for fit, style and beauty. We carry the best $1 Kid Glove that is made in the world. Every pair is fitted to the hand and warranted to give wear and satisfaction. We have at all times what we call jobs in Kid Gloves; that is, where manufacturers sell us side lines of Kid Gloves at a price; and we in turn sell them at very much under ordinary values as an attraction to the department.

DR. KOCH'S COUGH CURE. 25c. Notions and Small Wares.

Our Notion department occupies 100 feet of space, and is the largest and most commodious in Southern California. We aim to carry the most complete and best line of small wares attainable, and at a price lower than competition.

Ladies' Underwear.

Ladies' Underwear.

We think we have the finest, largest and best stock of Ladies' Underwear that we have ever shown for the money since we have been in business. The style and quality of material for the price is far beyond anything we have ever owned, ranging from 50 cents to $7.50 a garment. Some sterling values have arrived in spring and summer Merino Underwear. We are sole agents for the Lewis Knitting Company, manufacturers of the finest woolen underwear in the United States; also have the Hoehenzollern Manufacturing Company of Germany, manufacturers of the finest class of imported goods. We carry a full line of imported Swiss Underwear, price from $1 a garment up.

Wraps.

Before purchasing, we would esteem tt-a pleasure to show you what we have. Our stock is all new, this season's goods, and we sell them at less than any exclusive cloak house in town. We don't expect you to come here and pay your cash for an article you can buy elsewhere for the same price on credit. Our lines are from $5 to $35, and all intervening prices are as good in value as the lowest.

In shirt waists we are carrying double the stock we have ever carried any previous season, and giving twice the values; our line begins at 50c for the unlaundered collars and cuffs, soft, plaited bosom, shirt waists, and runs up to $12 apiece for novelties and silk.

Men's Wear.

Men's Wear.

Wen's Wear.

We are not shouting or creating any unnecessary furore over the values being shown in this department. We are contenting ourselves by letting the gentlemen of Los Angeles appreciate the fact that we are carrying the very best and selling it at the lowest price. Our departments are restocked for a fine class of trade, and if you wander in, and see anything in style that suits, the price certainly will. Our new Neckwear, Negligee and Laundered Shirts have come to hand, and we invite comparison as to styles, quality and price.

Men's Hats.

Carrying the best that is made, the department is in the hands of a practical hatter, selling the finest Hats and Straw and Felt at the most reasonable price, are the inducements offered for your trade. We guarantee wear and satisfaction.

Boys' Clothing.

We must move everything. That is the principle of this house, and when we get together lines of broken sizes at different prices, we want them out of the house to make room for new salable stuff. To this end we have taken all the irregular lines and cut them in half. You can buy from us at $1.49 tomorrow a suit that sells for $2.98; and the same way in price up to $3.98 goods that sold for $7.50. This is not said in an advertising sense. You will find them laid out on the tables at each price, and if your boy can be fitted and suited, you are getting the biggest bargain in clothing that you have ever purchased.

Drugs.

We sell everything in the drug line that is manufactured in the way of Patent Medicines and Perfumes, and all at a cut price. You can purchase from us Dr. Koch's German Sarsaparilla at 59c, that is marked and labeled $\frac{1}{2}$ on the bottle, and so on down the line of Patent Medicines. In Perfumes we undersell everybody. You can but from us for 50c, In point of quality and size, what it would cost you $1 elsewhere.

Of Japanese, Chinese, Mexican and California Goods will continue this week. Auction at 2 and 7 o'clock p.m. At private sale we cut prices in
